MINERS QUIT IN FINE PROTEST, THEN RETURN

Alabama Workers Go Back After Walkout, But Others Threaten To Stop.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 12—The approximately 615 Alabama coal miners who had started a parade of wildcat strikes turned back to the pits today, given an "out" by their bosses to avoid fines he had assessed for their June 1-5 walkout.

They had left three mines yesterday in protest against the government prepared to resume digging coal after Ickes, as federal operator of the mines, announced that whether the fines would stick was a matter for collective bargaining with the operators.

However, nearly 1,600 workers at three Windber, Pa., mines stayed away even after Ickes' announcement to strike. The vast majority of the miners over the country stayed on the job.

Ickes had first proposed that fines provided for under old contracts ($1 a day for leaving work in most areas, $2 in some) be applied.

The UMA and its president, John L. Lewis, protested the action, declaring government operation of the mines by itself failed to continue terms of the contract.

The Pennsylvania development, a union official said, was a two-fold protest. In addition to the fines, the miners were objecting to what they called failure of the war labor board to approve a wage increase of $1.30 a day, representing underground travel time.

This sum was agreed upon by Lewis and the central Pennsylvania Producers association as a compromise after the entire group of operators rejected flatly the UMA demand for $2 a day more.

WLB sources said a decision on the underground travel pay figure —the focal point in the three-months-long dispute—would be handed down next week and it was indicated that the issue might wind up in the courts. Union officials were reported as believing a law suit should be brought if the leadership thinks the WLB decision is unjust.

The miners now are operating under Secretary Ickes' direction on a truce which expires at midnight June 20.

Ickes held out an olive branch to the miners last night, 24 hours after he disclosed that fines for absenteeism would be imposed. Still sticking by the terms of the old UMW contract, he said the penalties could be appealed to the government managers of the pits and could be rescinded by mutual agreement between the "operators and the miners."

U. S. BOMBERS BLAST KOEPANG

Fliers in Pacific Take Advantage of Weather To Attack Japs.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, AUSTRALIA, June 12 — Improved flying weather sent bombers of the Fifth air force on wide and devastating sweeps against the Japanese yesterday. With but little opposition they blasted Koepang with 42 tons of bombs and poured more than 19 tons on oft-battered Rabaul, the big sea and air base on New Britain island.

The Japanese did not chose to seize this break in the bad weather to try an offensive, but 15 Liberators struck Koepang, capital of Timor shortly after noon, leaving it "a mass of flames," the allied high command reported.

Three of eight Zeros which rose to intercept the raiders were shot down and a fourth was listed as probably destroyed. One Liberator failed to return.

Liberators started fires and explosions along the runways and in dispersal areas of the Vunakanau and Rapopo airdromes at Rabaul. An undetermined number of grounded aircraft were destroyed.

Mitchell bombers in a daylight raid wrecked a bridge with a direct hit and started a large fire at Salamaua on New Guinea, while other raiders blasted Dili on Timor, Gasmata on New Britain and Madang on New Guinea, and struck Babo on Dutch New Guinea for the eighth time since May 4.

On the China front, dispatches said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's armies had gained the upper hand in fierce battles near Yangloushou on the Upper Yangtze river front, 40 miles northeast of the big Japanese base of Yochow, and savage fighting also was reported northeast of the main enemy base of Ichang.

In Burma, the land front was quiet, but RAF warplanes bombed the Japanese base at Akyab on the Bay of Bengal coast and machined-gunned Japanese troops in the area.

FLAG PRESENTATION TO BE MADE SUNDAY

Ceremony To Highlight V.F.W. Annual Observance.

Lee O. Kurfis of Cleveland, past Ohio department commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be the principal speaker when Veterans Post No. 3313, VFW, presents a large American Flag to radio station WMRN Sunday afternoon, highlighting the vets' Flag Day observance.

Similar presentations are made by VFW posts throughout the country each year. Previously the local post has presented flags to a number of the city schools and various other organizations.

Preceding the presentation which will be made at the station will be a parade. The parade will form at North Main and Fairground streets at 3 p. m. and will move north on Main street to the station. Marion school children have been asked to assemble at the courthouse a half hour ahead of parade time so that they may be taken to the North Main street school building. When the parade passes the school the school children will drop into the line of parade.

Invitation Extended

Invitations to participate in the parade and flag ceremony have been extended to all veterans organizations in Marion county. Presiding for the raising of the flag at the station will be N. V. Foreman, Carlos Tuttle, John Monk and Paul Reynolds.

The Marion VFW flag presentation is a part of a nationwide Flag Day plan followed by all posts of the organization. Recognition will be given the country over by each post to some local organization or firm.

COLE RECEIVES SENATE OK FOR POSTOFFICE JOB

Postmaster Nomination Confirmed; Expected To Take Office About July 1.

The U. S. senate yesterday confirmed the nomination of Homer D. Cole as postmaster here, according to an Associated Press dispatch. The nomination was sent to the senate recently by President Roosevelt. He will succeed L. L. Lamborn, who has served as postmaster since Feb. 6, 1934. Both are Democrats.

Mr. Cole said today he has received no official notice of his appointment.

Since the fiscal year of the postoffice department begins on July 1 it is expected he will take over his duties on that date.

One of 16 Applicants

One of 16 persons seeking the position, Mr. Cole had the unanimous indorsement of the Marion County Democratic executive committee and was one of three men qualifying for the position in a civil service examination held here.

Mr. Cole, who is now a deputy collector of internal revenue, is married and lives at 370 Mary street.

He is a former Marion county treasurer, serving from 1935 to 1941, including the first four-year term ever served by a county treasurer, served as chief clerk in the treasurer's office from 1931 to 1935, and is a former president of the Ohio County Treasurers' Association.

He was purchasing agent and accounting department head for the Susquehanna Silk Mills here from 1916 to 1931. His activities now include serving as a member of the Red Cross county executive committee.

He has been active in Democratic party affairs for a number of years and is former secretary of the county Democratic executive committee.

SENATE GIVES IN AS HOUSE SINGS

Assembly Winds Up Business and Adjourns.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 12—Twenty members of the Ohio house of representatives gathered at the door of a senate caucus room and sang (to the tune of "Show Me the Way to Go Home"):

"We had a little bill about an hour ago, but it went right over your head."

Inside were the senate's Republican members, who had been debating for half a hour whether to accept a house-sponsored bill appropriating $400,000 for new state parks.

Two minutes after the singing stopped the senators announced they had capitulated to the house.

Thus began late yesterday the swift windup of the 95th general assembly, which had been deadlocked for 24 hours over the parks appropriation.

The senate immediately went into session, cleaned up its work within 31 minutes, and enabled the legislature to adjourn the working sessions which it began Jan. 4.

The legislators will convene June 24 for a one-day session to dispose of minor details and adjourn sine die.

The senate reversed itself twice in its last session. It completed enactment of the parks bill and the $369,034,569 biennial appropriation measure, which it had rejected the day before.

The senators had insisted on appropriation of the $400,000 for four new parks without any strings attached. As enacted, the bill sets aside the amount for parks, but specifies that $350,000 of it may be spent only on authorization by the legislature, perhaps two years hence. The remaining $50,000 can be spent by the newly created post-war program commission in acquisition of leases and options on park lands.

Yielding further, the senate approved a conference committee's recommendation to delete $11,000 which the senate had added to the $262,279 sundry claims bill.

BLAST FURNACE IDLE

By The Associated Press

STEELTON, Pa., June 12—One of the three blast furnaces at the Bethlehem Steel Corporation's Steelton plant still was idle today although another was back in operation after a 24-hour shutdown which the management blamed on "strike action" and the United Steel Workers of America (CIO) attributed to a lockout.

Allies Turn Air Force On Lampedusa Island

Assault on Another Italian Stronghold Starts as Planes Crush All Opposition on Pantelleria.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 12 — Allied air forces which made history by forcing the capitulation of Pantelleria without the intervention of a single ground soldier have turned their full weight on the Italian island of Lampedusa, 80 miles to the south, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced today.

Lampedusa, only about half the size of the rocky little fortress of Pantelleria which turned in its chips yesterday after the greatest deluge of bombs on so small a target in aerial warfare, began experiencing a similar pounding in the afternoon. The onslaught continued last night.

(The Italian high command, in a communique recorded by The Associated Press from broadcasts, said the allies had served an ultimatum for surrender of Lampedusa, as they did at Pantelleria, but declared the garrison is "heroically resisting."

(The communique indicated that allied naval forces also were hitting the island, declaring "air and naval action yesterday was renewed and increased against the small garrison of Lampedusa."

(The communique announced to the Italians for the first time the fall of the Sicilian straits island which they had looked upon as their Gibraltar.

("Pantelleria, under pressure of air and sea bombardments without precedence of frequency and scale and without any water supply for the civilian population, was yesterday compelled to cease resisting," the announcement said.)

Strength of Garrison

(The Algiers radio today said the Pantelleria garrison that surrendered was "12,000 to 15,000 strong." Previous estimates had placed the garrison at 8,000.)

The concluding phase of the capture of the Pantelleria and the intial blows at Lampedusa resulted in the knocking down of 14 enemy aircraft yesterday, compared with the loss of three allied planes.

American Marauders led off with the first smashing attack on Lampedusa almost before the dust and smoke of the assault on much stronger Pantelleria had settled.

Other allied planes kept up the bombardment until nightfall, when the RAF's Wellingtons, the night workhorses, took up the shuttle of destruction.

The Americans said eight to ten small craft in Lampedusa's only harbor were covered by strings of bombs and one large explosion was noted.

The island's defenses already have been tested by light British naval forces from Malta which put ashore a landing party early this week, losing only two men.

Secondary Base

Unlike Pantelleria, Lampedusa has served only as a secondary Italian air and submarine base, and much of its effectiveness is reported to have been destroyed by bombing from Malta as early as last February.

Only seven by two miles in size, it is even less strongly held than Pantelleria, apparently is without its own air cover and is even

494 DONORS OF BLOOD LISTED

Total for Three-Day Stay of Red Cross Mobile Unit.

With the contribution of 159 pints of blood by 171 donors yesterday, a total of 462 pints was contributed during the three-day visit of the Red Cross mobile blood unit Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The total number of donors was 494, two less than the assigned quota.

On Wednesday 148 donors contributed 143 pints of blood and on Thursday 175 donors gave 160 pints. Epworth Methodist church was headquarters for the unit, which was in charge of Dr. J. R. Barnard of the U. S. Army and his staff, assisted by local nurses and Red Cross volunteer service workers.

The unit staff and local Red Cross officials expressed themselves as being highly pleased with the generous cooperation of the citizens without which the project could not have been carried out so successfully. The blood is for direct transmission to the battle zones to aid in saving lives of men in the armed forces.

Registrations are now being taken at the local Red Cross office for the unit's next visit to Marion Aug. 23, 24 and 25.

Persons who contributed to the Red Cross blood donor unit and who are entitled to pins may obtain them by presenting their certificates at the office of the Marion County Chapter of the Red Cross, the committee announced today. Persons contributing for the first and second times are entitled to bronze pins and those giving blood for a third time will receive gold pins.

Edwin T. Pollock, Retired U. S. Navy Captain and Mt. Gilead Native, Dies

MT. GILEAD, June 12 — Word was received here Friday of the death in Washington, D. C., June 4, of Capt. Edwin T. Pollock, 72, U. S. N. retired, a native of Mt. Gilead.

His nearly 40 years of service with the U. S. government included terms as acting governor of the Virgin Islands and of Samoa, superintendent of the Arlington Naval Observatory, and as commander of the U. S. army transport Washington which transported more troops to France during World War I than any other vessel.

Shortly before the outbreak of World War I, President Woodrow Wilson named him to represent the United States in dealing with Denmark for the purchase of the Virgin Islands, and he was named acting governor after their purchase and served in that capacity until placed in charge of a troop transport during the war.

At the end of World War I, President Wilson appointed him governor of Samoa, a position he held for nearly two years. In 1921-22, Capt. Pollock was in command of a succession of ships including the U. S. S. Oklahoma, and was commander of Battleship Division 6 of the Pacific fleet.

He was later named superintendent of the Arlington Naval Observatory and served in that capacity until his retirement in 1928.

Capt. Pollock was born in Mt. Gilead, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Pollock. He graduated from Mt. Gilead High school in 1887, leaving a few days before graduation for the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

His wife, the former Miss Beatrice Hale of Mansfield, died in November, 1941.

Funeral services were held Monday in the Church of the Covenant in Washington, D. C., with burial in Arlington National cemetery.

Capt. Pollock leaves a daughter, Mrs. Robert Chew and three grandchildren, of Jamestown, R. I., and a brother, W. S. Pollock of Delaware.

ITALY'S SCATTERED FLEET. Intelligence reports place its fleet, Italy's first line of defense, in the scattered positions indicated above—too weak at any point to resist a determined Allied naval assault; and too far apart to be brought quickly together. Its main force, including three modern 35,000 ton battleships of the Littorio class have been bombed and severly damaged at Spezia in the Gulf of Genoa. Older 23,600-ton battleships of the Cavour class are based at Taranto, near the Adriatic. The best cruisers are in scouting forces based in Corsica, Sardinia, Sicily and Naples, from which they haven't ventured since the Allies landed in North Africa. Second-line ships are in Adriatic harbors, while a small and diminishing force of destroyers and submarines does patrol and reconnaissance work off the Italian mainland.

RAID FOLLOWS FORT ATTACK ON SUB BASES

British Drop More Than 2,000 Tons of Bombs on Nazi Industrial Cities.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 12—The RAF, resuming its deadly offensive against the armament centers of the reich, sent the greatest force of heavy bombers of the war to attack several targets in the Ruhr and Rhineland last night, concentrating its greatest deluge of bombs on Duesseldorf, it was announced today.

Muenster was the biggest target among the secondary objectives, the air ministry said, and 43 bombers were lost in the assault which followed by only a few hours a heavy daylight precision raid by 200 American four-engined planes against the naval bases of Wilhelmshaven and Cuxhaven.

The weight of bombs dropped undoubtedly exceeded the record 2,000 tons loosed on Dortmund May 22 and the number of planes used probably was the largest since 1,250 RAF bombers of all types—large, medium and light—were sent against Cologne the night of May 30, 1942.

Number Not Disclosed

(Although this dispatch stated that the formations used last night made up "the greatest force of heavy bombers of the war," the actual number employed was not announced.)

"Duesseldorf was the main objective and a highly concentrated attack was delivered in just over an hour," said the air ministry communique in telling of the night offensive.

"Preliminary reports indicate great damage was done.

"A smaller force attacked Muenster where good results were achieved.

"Several other targets in the Ruhr and Rhineland were bombed."

Muenster is a little more than 60 miles northeast of Duesseldorf and is on the Ems river.

The air ministry said British intruder patrols were over the Netherlands, where they shot down a German plane last night.

(The German high command, in a communique broadcast from Berlin and recorded by The Associated Press, declared 54 British and United States aircraft, mostly four-engined bombers, were shot down yesterday and last night.

Heavy Loss Admitted

(It acknowledged that the attack on Duesseldorf "caused heavy losses among the population and considerable damage to dwelling houses as well as public buildings," and that the American attacks also caused losses to the Germans.)

After a two-week lull, the longest respite from pre-invasion aerial blastings granted Hitler's Europe during 1943, U-boat nests and harbor facilities at Wilhelmshaven and Cuxhaven in north-

REDS SEND BIGGEST FORCE AGAINST NAZIS

700 Planes Strike at German Bases.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, June 12—The 700-plane raid hurled against German air fields along the stirring Russian front Thursday night was the greatest Soviet aerial drive of the war and it destroyed 150 Nazi aircraft and spread havoc on runways, hangars, fuel dumps and ammunition depots, Russian dispatches said today.

The previous Russian record attack was mounted with 520 planes against Orel a few days ago.

Tass, the Russian News Agency, said that a considerable fighter force attempted to intercept the Russian planes, but while Russian fighters fought them off the big bombers went on to their objectives. Ten enemy aircraft were shot down, Tass said, adding that 19 Soviet planes failed to return.

(The Germans reported in their broadcast communique recorded by The Associated Press that fighting on the eastern front "was livelier again yesterday" and said fighting had erupted on the Orel sector with the Russians springing an attack. Berlin asserted the Russians were thrown back.)

Another German attempt to bomb the big Russian armaments center at Gorki, 250 miles east of Moscow, was made Thursday night but most of the bombers were dispersed by Russian fighters.

Noted Religious Leader To Direct Mission Program

DR. E. STANLEY JONES

Plans To Be Discussed at Meeting Tuesday.

A general assembly meeting of the Marion County council of Churches to make arrangements for the Marion county Christian mission planned for September with Dr. E. Stanley Jones of India as leader, will be held in the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night at 8. Committees will be appointed.

Dr. Jones will lead the mission in Marion during the last week of September. He is probably the best known missionary-evangelist in the world today. Thousands of the educated classes have heard him in India, Japan, Korea, Burma, China and in Malaya. A few years ago South Americans thronged a series of meetings which he held in their principal cities. His following in the United States and Canada is probably unequalled by any other living religious leader.

Dr. Jones is the author of eleven books. Beginning with his famous "The Christ of the Indian Road," all of his books have not only been best sellers in America and England but have also been translated into some 20 foreign languages.

A native of Clarksville, Md., he received his education in City college of Baltimore, Md., and in Asbury college at Wilmore, Ky. He holds honorary degrees from Duke university and Syracuse university.

Dr. Jones has three times refused election to the position of bishop in the Methodist church, preferring to continue his work as a missionary and evangelist.

During June Dr. Jones is visiting Mexico to speak in different parts of the Mexican nation under the sponsorship of the National Evangelical Council of Mexico. He will return to the United States in time to participate in the Christian Ashrams, scheduled in various parts of the nation during July and August.

Because of the war, which makes ocean travel across the Pacific impossible, Dr. Jones will not be able to resume his great work in India until after the war. In the meantime he is holding Christian missions in various cities of the United States under the sponsorship of the department of evangelism of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. It is through this source that the Marion County Council of Churches has been able to secure Dr. Jones for the six-day mission here.

Dr. Jones will also be available to speak to various group meetings while in the city. The council of churches will also elect officers for the new fiscal year at the Tuesday meeting.

Baby Day To Be Observed by U. B. Church Sunday

Baby day will be observed in First United Brethren church tomorrow morning in the Sunday school and church hours as part of a series of special services being put on by different departments of the church. The committee in charge includes Mrs. Hazel Hufford, Mrs. Juanita Jones, Mrs. Maude Hazlett and Mrs. Grace Cramer. Rev. Garrison Roebuck will preach on "The Prodigal Daughter" in the worship hour.

The Holy Spirit

A SERMONETTE

By REV. M. E. HOLLENSEN

Pastor of Emanuel Lutheran Church

* * *

"And when the day of Pentecost was fully come ." Acts 2:1.

A GLANCE at the church calendar tells us that Sunday, June 13, is Pentecost or Whit Sunday. While this festival is not often given the attention that Christmas, Good Friday, Easter and the Ascension receive, nevertheless, without Pentecost all the other great days that the Christian church celebrates would be meaningless. So important is Pentecost, and what took place on that day, that we can not afford not to give due heed to it.

The word "Pentecost" is a Greek word that means "fiftieth," and refers to a great occurrence that took place in Jerusalem, fifty days after the resurrection of Christ from the grave. On that day, the apostles and other believers were assembled together, when there came a sound as of a rushing, mighty wind, and it filled the place where they were. The disciples, noticed tongues, like as of fire, resting upon their heads. And, when they began to speak, the disciples of Jesus found that they were able to speak in languages that they had never learned. What did these three signs mean? These were the evidences of a great miracle, the fulfillment of a promise that Jesus had made to the twelve, that He would send them His Holy Spirit. On the day of Pentecost, the Savior sent the Holy Spirit. It is, therefore, because the Holy Ghost was poured out on Pentecost, that we celebrate the day as a glorious event in the history of the Christian church. Perhaps, however, we are wont to say: Why is the gift of the Holy Spirit so important? Why celebrate that event, and consider it as important as the other major festivals of the church? Pentecost is gloriously important, because:

I. THE HOLY SPIRIT CONVICTS US OF SIN. Since the Holy Spirit, the third Person of the Holy Trinity, never assumed human nature as did Jesus Christ, we find it difficult to visualize the Spirit or realize His great importance. But the Holy Ghost is that Person of the Godhead who leads us to a sense of our sinfulness. The Holy Spirit by means of the Word of God comes to us and shows us our true status before God. He tells us that we are dead in trespasses and sins. He shows us the holiness of God's Law, and then arouses our conscience so that it accuses us. He tells us that our sins demand punishment from the Father, and that we of ourselves can not hope to escape this just penalty for our transgressions. Hence, were it not for the gift of the Spirit, no man would know that he was a guilty sinner in God's sight, helpless to save himself, and doomed to eternal damnation. That is why on Pentecost, ten days after His Ascension to heaven, Jesus sent the Spirit to His church.

Is it important to have a conviction of sin? Unless we know our true spiritual condition by nature, we will not want to be rescued from it. So, the Holy Spirit comes to us through the Word of God, and first of all, shows us our spiritual status, and our absolute need of help. The reason why so many persons today repudiate Christianity and turn their backs upon the Word of God is because they have never given the Spirit a chance to let them behold themselves as God Himself sees them. Think of it! If the gift of the Holy Spirit had not been given, we would not even know our utter helplessness and sinfulness! So, Pentecost is a festival that is most important, and that should receive our fullest attention.

Why is the gift of the Spirit so important? Pentecost is gloriously important, because:

II. THE HOLY SPIRIT BRINGS US TO FAITH IN CHRIST. The work of the Holy Spirit is tremendous. He not only leads us to a conviction of sin, but also shows us the way of escape from sin, and makes that way of escape our very own. The Spirit of God comes to us through the Gospel—which is the Word of God about Christ—and puts faith in Jesus in our hearts. He tells us that Jesus, the Savior, came into the world and suffered and died for our sins, and that He has a righteousness that is able to cancel our guilt and take away the eternal punishment that we deserve. The Spirit then puts a living trust in Christ in our hearts, so that we believe that in Jesus we have everything that is necessary for our rescue from sin and eternal death. Think of it! The Holy Spirit working through the Word of God actually brings us to a saving faith in Jesus our Savior! Hence, were it not for the Spirit, there would not be a single person alive who trusted in the merits of Jesus Christ for his salvation. The Holy Spirit came in order to take the redemption of Christ and bring it to individuals. And the Spirit works through the Word and the Sacraments of Baptism and the Lord's Supper. Apart from these channels, we have no evidence that the Spirit carries on His important work.

Is it important to have faith in Christ? It is the most important thing in the world. Faith in Christ spells the difference between eternal life and eternal death. It marks the difference between heaven and hell, joy and sorrow, forgiveness and guilt, peace and a troubled conscience. If Pentecost had not come, then Christmas, when Jesus was born, Good Friday, when Jesus died, Easter, when Jesus arose, and Ascension day, when Jesus returned to heaven and glory, would be of no value to us at all. Pentecost marked the day when the Holy Spirit established the Christian church on earth, and began the great work of gathering souls for Christ and His eternal kingdom.

Why is the gift of the Holy Spirit so important? Pentecost is gloriously important, because:

III. THE HOLY SPIRIT KEEPS US STEADFAST IN CHRIST. God's Spirit continues working in us, even after we have been converted; that is, after we have been brought to a conviction of sin, and have been led to a living trust in Christ as our Savior. It is then that the Spirit endeavors to keep us faithful to Christ until the very end of our earthly lives. He does this by causing us to delight in hearing the Word of God, in finding joy in doing God's will, in giving us strength to resist temptation, by bestowing grace upon us so that we may stand up under trial, and by making our prayers acceptable to our Father in heaven. This the Holy Spirit delights to do, as He carries on His work of sanctification within us. That is why it is true that as many of us as are led by the Spirit of God are really the very sons of God. Hence, without the gift of the Spirit, we could never continue in Christ until the summons of death comes, and eternity beckons to us.

Is it important to remain steadfast in Christ? Jesus tells us that this world will pass away and the just thereof. Yet He assures us that those who trust in Him will not perish, but have everlasting life. To remain immovable in Jesus Christ means that the eternal blessings of God shall ever be ours. When we see the temporary things of life fading away, how blessed to be assured by the Holy Spirit that in Christ we have the certainty of things which will never pass away.

Let us "All hail the day of Pentecost, the coming of the Holy Ghost," by attending church on Sunday, and giving God's Spirit an opportunity to speak to our souls.

NURSES AIDE PLEA ISSUED

Volunteers Sought for New Course; Services Urgently Needed.

A call for volunteers to join the second nurses' aid course sponsored by the National Red Cross is being issued by the local nurses' aide committee headed by Mrs. J. A. Dodd. Women and girls over 18 years of age are asked to enroll in this particular phase of wartime service for which there is a great need.

There will be both an afternoon and evening class if enough women register for the course, which is in preparation for service in emergencies in local hospitals, casualty stations and first aid posts.

The course consists of two units with a total of 80 hours. The first 35 hours are spent in classroom work and theory and the remaining 45 hours in practical experience in the hospital under the supervision of registered nurses. Mrs. H. F. Ogden will teach the class and at the hospital the classes will be supervised by Miss Thelma Malo, assistant to the superintendent. Classes will be held at Red Cross headquarters on West Center street. Upon completion of the first 35 hours of study the aide receives her uniform of a blue chambray jumper apron worn over a regulation white blouse and upon the completion of the practical study receives her cap. Service stripes are added at intervals upon the completion of 150 hours work. The nurses aide is one of the eight special volunteer services of the Red Cross and the worker serves without pay.

To enroll in the course the candidate must be a graduate of a high school or its equivalent and express a willingness to give a minimum of 150 hours of service a year without remuneration.

Members of a class graduated recently in the course are on duty at the City hospital and this week were on duty at the Red Cross blood donor unit. Mrs. Mary Taylor, superintendent at the City hospital, says the work of these aides in relieving registered nurses from routine duties is invaluable and stated today that she "could use 35 on the hospital staff."

Miss Grace Fuzzy, nurse consultant of the National Red Cross for Ohio, said on a visit here this week that Marion is behind in this particular volunteer service and asks that a special appeal be made to enroll women immediately.

Central American Quinine Replaces East Indies Supply

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Cinchona trees at El Porvenir, a 17,000 acre plantation on the slopes of an extinct volcano in western Guatemala, provide a fresh source of quinine for the United Nations.

It would be a dream come true for President Justo Rufino Barrios if he were alive today. He started the plantation some 60 years back in an effort to develop and diversify his country's economy.

But the Dutch in the East Indies grew Cinchona more cheaply than President Barrios could, and El Porvenir—which means "the future"—grew rank and untended. The Cinchona trees were being used for firewood and fenceposts.

Then Japan captured the world's supply of quinine in the Dutch East Indies. Cinchona production for quinine became of great importance again in Latin America, where it originated.

El Porvenir is the largest single concentrated source of quinine known in the western hemisphere. Aerial surveys indicate that it has enough Cinchona trees to provide an estimated 25 per cent of our supply of quinine for the next few years. After that, other Latin American areas may catch up.

The Guatemalan source is particularly handy because the bark can be shipped overland to the United States for processing.

Contracts have been signed through the board of economic warfare with the Guatemalan government whereby the entire output becomes available to the United States.

In addition to furnishing quinine, this plantation will provide sufficient seeds for the rest of this hemisphere, it is stated.

Zoot Girls Attack Her. While Los Angeles authorities continued drastic action to halt the "zoot suit" rioting and street fighting with servicemen in that area, a new wave of violence by zoot suiters, called "Pachucos," flared with a young woman being attacked and slashed by three girl zoot suiters. The victim was Betty Morgan, 22-year-old waitress, (above) who was knocked down and slashed with a razor by three black-skirted girls. For nearly a week hoodlums, garbed in zoot suits, have been rioting with servicemen who have been attempting to "clean up" the gang members, many of whom are Mexicans.

Victory Gardens in U. S. Total Nearly 20 Million

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., June 12—Three and a half million farmers in Michigan, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana—500,000 more than last year—are responding to the victory garden campaign this year by planning to have an vegetable gardens.

Throughout the entire country, according to a recently completed Institute survey, approximately 3,300,000 more gardens are being grown this year than last year. This brings the total number of victory gardens actually under cultivation to very nearly 20,000,000, the goal of the victory garden campaign.

The survey also discloses that a surprisingly large number of "garden" farmers actually carried out their intentions of planting plots—testimony to the effectiveness of the thousands of community garden drives. In April, the Institute found that about 21,000,000 families said they planned to grow their own vegetables. Nearly twenty million actually planted gardens. This, relatively few reneged. And to be weighed against this is the fact that in the latest survey, about 2,000,000 still say they intend to plant.

Size of Plots

The average size of the garden plot, on the basis of gardeners' plans at the start of the season is approximately 500 square feet in cities of 100,000 or more population—a plot of about 20 by 25 feet. In towns or cities of less than 100,000 down to and including rural non-farm areas, gardens were expected to average 40 by 95 feet or 3,800 square feet. Gardens on farms were estimated to run to an average of about half an acre.

The total acreage under cultivation, if those who have gardens followed their April estimates on the sizes of their gardens, is about 7,000,000 acres—an area equivalent to all of the land put to crops in North Carolina in 1940.

Canning

An important question for the War Priorities Board is how many jars and cans and jar tops should be allocated for home canning this year. Here is a rough estimate, based on a survey of women in all parts of the country who were asked (1) whether they plan to do any home canning, (2) how many jars or cans they plan to put up, (3) how many jars, cans and jar tops they will need.

In short housewives have on hand all but about one-seventh of the jars, cans and jar tops they will need.

POLITICAL FREEDOM WAY TO PEACE, GRADS TOLD

Henry R. Luce, Editor, Addresses Class of 646.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 12. — Henry R. Luce, New York editor, told Ohio State university's June graduating class yesterday that the best guarantee for peace is world-wide "political freedom."

In a speech prepared for the school's annual spring commencement, the editor of Time, Life and Fortune magazines asserted "the greatest guarantee that 'this (the war) will never happen again' will be a world in which most of the nations are nations where political freedom is solemnly guaranteed or earnestly sought."

"Thus, the paramount material interest of our nation, which is peace, ultimately coincides with the purpose for which the nation exists—namely, the promotion of political freedom," he added.

Special recognition was arranged for 126 members of the graduating class already in the armed forces.

The class has 90 in the Army, 33 in the Navy and three in the Marine Corps.

Graduates total 646, compared with 1,445 last June.

Brig. Gen. Patrick Hurley Is Awarded Flying Cross

CAIRO, June 12 — Brig. Gen. Patrick Jay Hurley, President Roosevelt's special representative in the Middle East and former secretary of war in the Hoover administration, was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross yesterday "for meritorious achievement while participating in aerial flights in furtherance of the war effort."

One of his most spectacular and difficult missions was in flying to Darwin, Australia, with $1,000,000 in gold in a canvas bag. Early in the war he ranged the Australian coast to buy up fishing boats which he used in a desperate effort to get supplies to Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines.

Secret of a Good Law

CONGRESSIONAL agreement on legislation to curb the urge to strike in wartime clearly indicates that the time is ripe in political judgment for something more than exhortation to deal with breakdowns in organized labor discipline.

Labor's spokesmen who warn that such a law represents the labor-baiting inclinations of a hostile minority may be astonished at its effect. The secret of a good law is the extent of its public support, and there is widespread public support for any fair means of minimizing wartime strikes.

It remains to be seen whether the government would enforce anti-strike legislation, but in all probability public opinion would take care of that, too. The imposition of a fine on coal miners for the strikes they have engaged in suggests that the Roosevelt administration has read the handwriting on the wall. At long last, it has taken a step which signifies that labor unions, now more powerful than ever before due largely to the encouragement they have been given by the government, share responsibility for production.

Certainly if government is to exercise authority to supplant management for the purpose of maintaining production, it must expect to deal forth rightly with union members who are not being disciplined by their leaders and with the leaders themselves. In effect, that is what the pending anti-strike legislation is supposed to do. Those who object to it have produced no alternative; if they had, anti-strike legislation wouldn't have been considered in the first place.

International Hoodlums

IN LOS ANGELES, where zoot-suited hoodlum trouble has become acute, there are said to be threats of international complications because many of the hoodlums are Mexicans. This apparently means they can't be dealt with as hoodlums, but must be handled as citizens of a friendly neighboring power.

Sometimes international relations get into a silly season all their own. A hoodlum who must be kid-gloved because he was born on the south side of the border is still a hoodlum, subject to the same hazards as his native-born pals.

In other parts of this country, zoot hoodlums aren't identified as predominantly Mexicans, but in certain communities they may run to one national or racial group more strongly than to another. Certainly that will not bar them from getting what they ask for if they ever become as brazen as the young thugs and assassins who have been on the loose in Los Angeles.

Australia Takes the Offensive

PRIME MINISTER JOHN CURTIN'S assertion that Australia, which was forced into a defensive position by the naval catastrophe at Pearl Harbor, now is ready to become part of the United Nations offensive completes the lineup, except for China. When that indispensable ally can begin to move forward against its enemies, the end will be in sight.

Mr. Curtin's confidence is the more convincing because of his previous under-confidence; he has persistently taken the attitude that not enough was being done to offset Japanese strength in the invasion circle north of Australia. His conversion to optimism occurred, apparently, as the result of the latest conference between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill. Their decision to prosecute the war in the Pacific with the same vigor as the war in Europe, he explains, has "ominous portents for the discomfiture of the Japanese."

An impression among his countrymen that Gen. Douglas MacArthur has done brilliant work in salvaging the wreckage of security left in the wake of Japan's drive for empire is confirmed by Mr. Curtin's acknowledgements of gratitude and credit. Gen. MacArthur may be heard from soon in the role he seeks—avenger of Japan's great blunder in starting something it couldn't finish.

Roads to Somewhere

TEN BILLION dollars could be spent to good advantage on public highways immediately following the war, in the opinion of a spokesman for the American Association of State Highway Officials, representing state highway departments and the federal public roads administration. This is the kind of post-war planning a taxpayer can get his teeth into and understand.

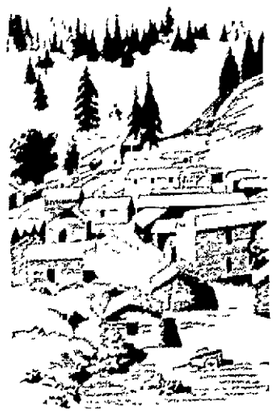
The association estimates that every billion spent in highway rehabilitation and construction would furnish a year's direct employment to 750,000 persons, reminiscent of the estimates formerly heard in connection with highway work for unemployment relief. There is an important difference now, however.

The war has disclosed the necessity for better highway facilities than existed when the national defense effort began in 1940. A vast deal of highway work has had to be done under unfavorable circumstances that could have been done before under favorable circumstances. While 10 billion dollars might be too much to spend even in behalf of the automobile industry that lays the national golden eggs, it is useful as a measure of the tremendous possibilities still unrealized in construction of proper roads for the age of transportation.

California's Ghost Towns

By Temple Manning.

One of a Series of Articles on "Around the Americas."



The ruins are fascinating.

THERE IS charm aplenty and to spare in California—scenic coasts, big mountains, ocean beaches, fertile valleys, luxurious resorts and places of picturesque antiquity. But despite all the scenic, historic and romantic attractions, there is one section of the Golden State that to many folks is the most charming and interesting of all.

This is the Mother Lode section, a region made famous in the days of the rush for gold, in 1849. Here are the paths trod by Bret Harte in search of literary material. Here are pioneer trading posts where Mark Twain swapped stories and gathered yarns that were to make him famous.

Here stalked wealth and poverty, tragedy and romance, crime and goodness — all bred by the feverish search for gold. These are now the ghost towns that doze in the sun, content with their past, content to be just landmarks.

Some Survive

Of course some towns have escaped such oblivion and are today thriving communities. There is Stockton, which was a busy village even before the discovery of gold in California. After the strike it became the center for outfitting miners. Supplies came to Stockton by boats from San Francisco, the Atlantic Seaboard and indeed from ports all over the world. As Stockton was the center of activity during the gold rush days, so it is today the trading center for the vast Mother Lode area.

Near Stockton is Mariposa, where many features of a typical mining camp have been preserved. Its court house, built of lumber, contains a wealth of material of historical records and furnishings as they were in the "49" days.

Horntos is one of the most interesting and well preserved "ghost towns" in California. Having had a population of about 15,000 in the days of '49, it is picturesque even in its decay and desolation. One of the old saloons facing the "Plaza" still has a rounded mahogany bar dulled since the bartender's polishing cloth — no more is the last across the street at the Wells Fargo office built in 1851. Farther down the street is a hall where joy reigned when miners came in flush from the "diggins."

In the ruins of a dance hall opposite may be seen the opening of the tunnel said to have been used by the notorious bandit, Joaquin Murietta, when escaping from the sheriff's posse. Red brick ruins represent a building that was successively a general store, a saloon, a dance hall and a clothing store. On an upper street is the two-story Hornitos Hotel, the lumber for which was brought by sailing ship around Cape Horn, transferred by river boat to Sacramento and hauled by ox-carts to the present site.

Keys Well Guarded

By The Associated Press

TUCSON, ARIZ. — Mike, a smart cocker spaniel, is trained to take the automobile keys from his master, the Rev. Fr. Athanasius Drohan, after a drive and put them away in the house. When the priest wants to use the car he calls Mike, who brings the keys. The plan worked well until Mike was left at home on two successive days. On the third day the keys couldn't be found. Mike had hidden them in a hole in the yard. To solve the difficulty, Father Drohan got into the car and called Mike. The dog looked the situation over, apparently decided he was invited to join in the ride, and dug up the keys and placed them in his master's hand.

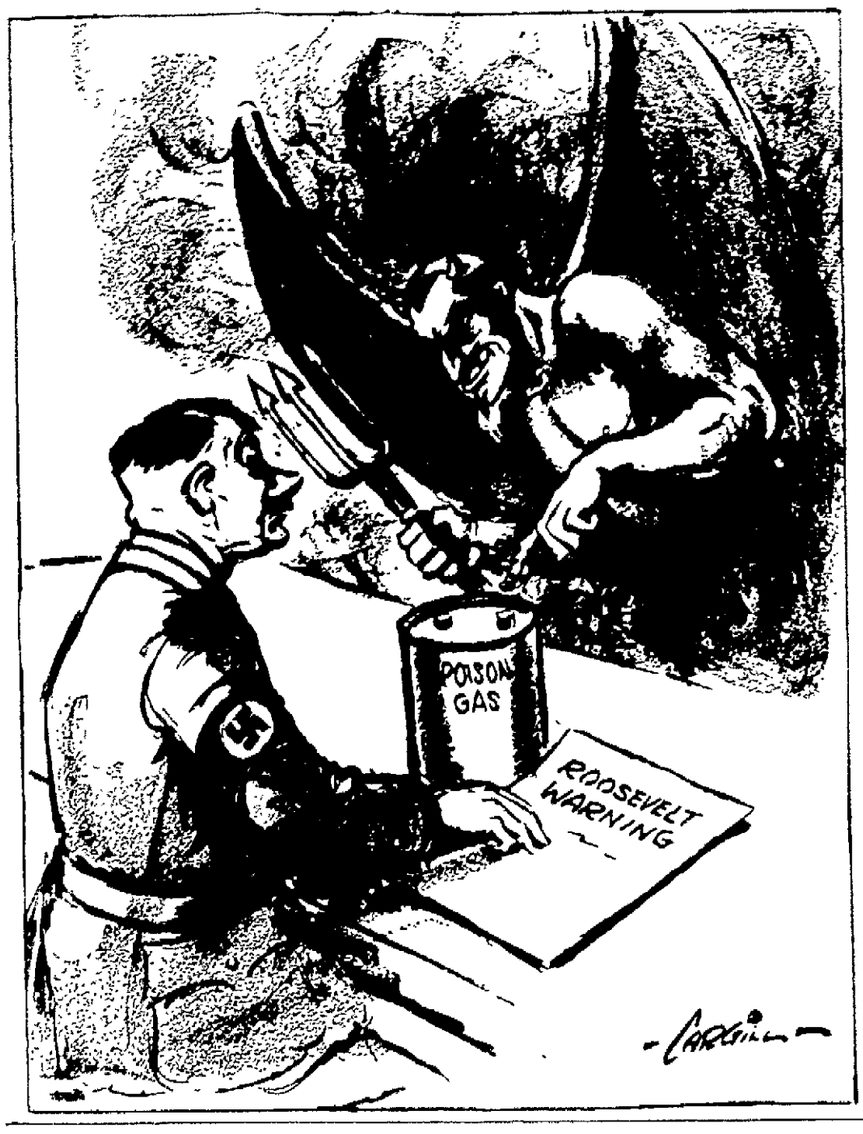
CONFERENCE ADJOURNED



Behind the Times

By The Associated Press

CANON CITY, COLO.—"Those new-fangled gear shifts" on the steering column were blamed by Harold Hathaway, a convict, for his recapture after he fled from Colorado prison. When Hathaway was sentenced to prison in 1937 cars were equipped with the gear shift set separately from the steering post. After he escaped he stole an automobile at Pueblo, Colo., the car had the new style gear shift and Hathaway couldn't operate it smoothly. Officers captured him.

Let's Have Unanimity

By Merle Thorpe in Nation's Business.

THE state of the national morale is better than our federal authorities have any right to expect. Conflicting directives and exhortations, indicative of a muddled leadership, contrast strikingly with 130,000,000 citizens manifesting a unity truly remarkable under the circumstances.

In two weeks the public oversubscribed a $13,000,000,000 war loan by 40 per cent—more bonds bought in 14 days than in all 1917 and 1918.

During the same two weeks, in contrast to this singleness of purpose and sacrifice, our federal directors and their agencies likewise broke a record of sorts:

The Jeffers-Nelson-Patterson-Forrestal-Ickes controversy over rubber; OWI vs. Army and Navy over news and OWI inside fight on propaganda; Truman committee vs. Knox on shipping losses; labor board and Byrnes on little steel formula; McNutt vs. Stimson on compulsory vs. volunteer service; Nelson, Wickard, Davis on farm machinery; Prentiss Brown vs. the "old Henderson crowd" on prices and how to administer them; Morgenthau, Paul vs. congress on taxes, and a score of other conflicting policies and practices only too well known to the public.

The latest Truman committee reports call for an end to "destructive wasteful feuding." It recommends that "heads be knocked together." It calls the present confusion the "basic weakness in the control of the war effort."

WHILE federal agencies plan in the grand manner for post-war coordination of 50-odd nations, is it too much to ask that a little attention be given to coordination on the home front?

The task should not be too difficult. Here we have a homogeneous people, speaking one language, with similar customs and traditions, a people faced with a war of survival, a people generous in its willingness to be led.

In comparison it should be an easy job to move from "bancor" and "unitas" plans of the future to domestic planning for fellow citizens, here, now, today. Our global planners might help mother plan how to get a chicken and/or potatoes for Sunday's dinner; or help her grocer plan her spinach order while waiting for an announced amended directive; or help father plan on a cultivator or a corn-sheller, or the married son plan on when the Army may want him.

Can it be that the self-interest so apparent in Washington has gotten beyond control? One group which should be thinking solely of supplying our armed forces keeps an eye cocked toward election next year. Others insist that pet ideas of social and economic "reform" must take equal place with what they term the "war effort." Still other bureaucrats strive to build up their bureaus so big, and so enmesh them in our way of life, that both the bureaus and the said bureaucrats will be essential even indispensable, when peace comes.

Caught in this vortex are 130,000,000 loyal, self-sacrificing citizens, who, planless, but with a singleness of purpose, are providing the fighters, the ammunition, and the spirit of victory. They deserve better at the hands of administrative heads in Washington.

The President once asked for assistants with a passion for anonymity. The clear call today is for assistants with a passion for unanimity.

GLEN BURNIE, MD. — Grocer Carl Wagner was hard to convince that lightning would strike the same place more than once. But when burglars robbed his store three times Grocer Wagner decided it was time to do something about it. He installed a photoelectric burglar alarm and recently the alarm bell in his house set up a clamor. Wagner called the Ferndale police, who raced 2½ miles in about two and a half minutes to capture a very surprised burglar hard at work.

Moron Jokes

By DAMON RUNYON

Erudite Reader Finds Origin in Works of Greek Humorist Called Hierocles in 400 A. D.

THROUGH the kind offices of Laurence Degnan of San Francisco, I am able to trace the probable origin of the moron jokes which seem to be something of a rage among the kids of today. I mean those bits of so-called humor such as: "Did you hear about the moron who walked through a screen door and strained himself?"

I threatened any persons writing in and claiming authorship of these classics with exposure as burglars from Joe Miller, the old joke book man, but Mr. Degnan finds they are all on Joe by perhaps two thousand years. They go back to the ancient Greeks.

Mr. Degnan has dug up a guy by the name of Hierocles, who was writing or at least compiling in about the fourth century of our era. This chap got up a collection titled "Facetiae" which contains the germs of the moron jokes. Mr. Degnan says they could have been old stuff when Hierocles gathered them together.

It appears there is no published English translation of Hierocles, so Mr. Degnan has produced one of his own. I am proud to record this fact as proves the erudition of my readers.

I defy Walter Lippmann or any other columnist to name a reader who can translate anything from the Greek.

My man Mr. Degnan includes the Greek text which requires a machine that makes all kinds of curlycues. I would not attempt to set down that text even if my typewriter spoke the language because it would drive the linotype operators out of their minds. They have enough difficulty with my copy as it is.

BUT let us get to Brother Hierocles and his jokes. Says he:

"A simpleton, selling his house, carried around a stone from it as a sample."

"A simpleton, having heard that a raven lives over 200 years, purchased a raven and proceeded to raise it as a test."

"A simpleton, dreaming he stepped on a nail, when awake bound up his foot. Another, when he learned the reason, said: 'Why, then, do you go to sleep barefooted?'"

"One of twin brothers died. Thereupon a simpleton meeting the survivor, asked: 'Did you die, or was it your brother?'"

"A simpleton, wishing to teach his horse not to eat too much, put no fodder before him. The horse having died of starvation, he said: 'I have suffered a great loss; just when he learned not to eat, he dies.'"

"A simpleton, wishing to cross a river, went up into the boat on horseback. When asked his reason, he said he was in a hurry."

Mr. Degnan says he could go on quoting for pages, but thinks these samples are sufficient. He says some of them sound familiar to him, particularly the one about the simpleton teaching his horse not to eat too much.

"When I was a small youngster in Maricopa county," he remarks, "I heard a version of that dietary experiment, only it was with a cow instead of a horse and the fodder was served in progressively diminishing quantities. Considering that our jokes are based on the crotchets and foibles of homo sapiens, it is not strange that their origins should be buried in the same obscurity that surrounds the early history of mankind itself."

I consider the moron matter closed.

Call the next case.

So They Say

Since the middle of February of this year Germany has received a weight of attack beside which our previous attacks in 1940, 1941 and 1942 look small, and beside which the German attacks on this country look puny.—Sir Archibald Sinclair, British air minister.

It is because of their (the Italians') treacherous act in attacking helpless France that we are at war with Italy today. It was Mussolini who asked Hitler for the privilege of sharing the bombing of London. We have not forgotten it.—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Government in our democracy depends upon the people, on what they want, on what they are willing to accept. The people depend to a great extent on thousands of leaders for guidance. We always get back to the leaders no matter where we start.—Edward L. Bernays of New York, public relations expert.

The belief persists that most homeless people do not like work. It is one of those dangerous half-truths which hamper progress. Analyses disclose many of them willing and able to work under the right conditions.—Dr. Siegfried Kraus, New York City college sociologist.

Churchill must not forget that the Italians have nothing more to lose and they possess a courage of despair.—Alessandro Pavolini, former Italian press minister.

Woman must retain above all her pre-eminent right to snare a man.—Vancouver women shipyard workers striking for right to wear tight clothes.

By FLORENCE HALL
Head of Women's Land Army
Written for Associated Press Features.

A NATIONAL Woman's Land Army is here, but there are many hurdles to be crossed before we prove our worth on the food-production front as an important part of the U. S. Crop Crops.

If you ask the ordinary farmer how many Land Army women he wants to help him with his crop, he asks:

"What! A city gal help me! What can she do down here? I can't afford to let her break up my machinery. Why, she couldn't even do that!' And he points to a muddy barnyard where his 8-year-old son is rounding up the cows for milking.

"Yes, and she'd expect me to wait on her," chimes in the farmer's wife. "We had a city boarder last summer, and I know."

Farmers simply can not picture the city women they know in a helpful capacity on the farm. Their experience is all to the contrary.

I wish I could take you farmers to visit women taking a few weeks' intensive training for farm work in the Women's Land Army. I should like to have you meet Dorothy whose husband is in North Africa, perhaps in the same regiment as your son. Dorothy has just completed her course and makes no reservations as to what she will do and where she will work, just so we will put her to work growing food for the boys in Africa. Her training has given her muscles some conditioning so she can start right in with the farm work. She won't do quite so well as that treasure of a hired man that got the big-paying job at the munitions works, but you'll be surprised the ordinary routine work she has already learned to do; and if you teach her your way of doing things, she can take more and more of the load off your shoulders.

AND HERE is Helen True. 5 feet, 1 inch is small for a hired man, but look how she goes to it—the concentration with which she tackles the intricacies of the tractor. The school director says of her: "That girl is going to win the war with her own two hands." She lives in the Bronx and has just left a job in a factory at $65 per week to train for a job on a farm at $40 per month, including room and board. She is so sure that she can serve best on the farm front; and if a capacity for work and earnestness count, she'll win. The small wiry ones sometimes have a great deal of endurance.

We are not asking the farmers to take us entirely on our good intentions. City women have already made good as helpers on the farm. Last year I visited a similar training course, given at the University of Maryland. I attended the poultry laboratory course and was, I confess it, not much impressed with the city women who were evidently afraid to touch the chickens, I thought to myself: "It's pretty hopeless: look at that typical club woman over there gingerly approach the chicken."

This year I asked the school authorities: "Can't you refer me to one of last year's graduates who has made good?" They sent me out to a poultry farm where 1,200 eggs are often gathered in a single day. What, to my amazement, should I find but my typical club woman, the same one who was so timid with the chickens. She owned, managed and did most of the work for her business. She handled baby chicks and layers with an experienced hand. "It makes me feel that I am doing something to help win the war," she said as she poured a little more feed into the troughs.

SEVERAL big truck farms where girls were used last year have already put in their orders for help from the Women's Land Army. A Connecticut farmer says of his city-bred dairymaid: "Her gentleness with the animals is a lesson to my hired man."

A New York farmer says: "Frances is fine. She works right along with my own daughter. She doesn't handle the tractor just right, so I have Betty do that; but Frances is fine with the milking and is willing to do anything that needs doing." The two girls seem to make at least one first-class hired man. Frances has four brothers in the armed forces, and this is her field of service.

The English farmers didn't like to have the city girls around the place at first, either, but the Land Army girls have shown them; and we of the American Land Army intend to show American farmers that city girls are good material for hired hands, and together we can raise that food so urgently needed to win the war.

Leghorn

The bombed port of Livorno, better known by its English name of Leghorn, was made famous by straw hits shipped from there, and by the hardy breed of Mediterranean chickens, "the greatest egg-laying machines of the poultry world."

When the Arno river silted up the harbor of Pisa in the 16th century, one of the Medici family developed a harbor at nearby Livorno, then a village of less than 800 inhabitants, says National Geographic society.

Livorno became Italy's second port, next to Genoa, and has added value today as a military objective because of its ship-building yards. Here too is located the Royal Naval academy, the Annapolis of Italy.

Old harbor fortifications of the Medici era still stand. Swamps have been drained, breakwaters built, and canals cut through and around the town, giving it the name of "the New Venice." It was a popular year-round seaside resort. To the south Napoleon's island of Elba is visible.

Thrown open to the oppressed of all lands, Livorno was a cosmopolitan center with more than 100,000 residents. There are Moors from Spain and Armenians from the Levant. There is a typical Scotch kirk, a Greek Orthodox and a Waldensian church. Largest religious edifice is a synagogue, rebuilt in 1603.

WAR WON'T DEPLETE U. S. TIMBER SUPPLY

Forests Make Valuable Contribution During Emergency.

ANN ARBOR — Vast quantities of lumber are being used in the war effort, but there is little danger that the heavy demands will deplete the American forests, according to Dow V. Baxter, associate professor of silvics and forest pathology in the University of Michigan school of forestry and conservation.

A big reserve of timber was available to meet the war needs, Baxter asserts, and this fact coupled with sharp curtailment of civilian uses of lumber makes it highly unlikely that the future supply of lumber will be imperiled by present demands.

Forests Replaceable

While the mining of metals definitely depletes natural resources, Baxter says forests are replaceable and should be regarded as a crop which must be harvested to save it from spoiling.

To a nation used to thinking in terms of steel for construction of the weapons of war, Baxter believes the contributions now being made by wood will prove surprising.

Barracks to house the armed forces, crates to ship war supplies to all corners of the globe, hulls for the Navy's famed PT boats, decks for aircraft carriers, fuselages for airplanes and pontoon bridges are just a few of the ways in which wood is used for war purposes, he says, thereby helping to ease the demand for steel and other metals.

Vital To Highway

Wood also has played a vital role in the construction of the military highway to Alaska, he says, since it might have been impossible to complete this project if timber along the right-of-way had not provided much of the construction materials needed for the many bridges and culverts, as well as the corduroy road which had to be built across the muskegs. Shipping in all of this material would have been too costly and time consuming, the professor believes.

Alcohol and cellulose, two valuable items for a nation at war, are obtained from wood, he points out, and the use of wood in plastics is increasing rapidly.

VARNISH REMOVER

To remove varnish from glass, make a strong solution of washing soda and dab on the varnish. Don't let any of the mixture get on wood frames. The varnish will soften shortly and can then be scraped off with a razor blade.

Make It LAST!

Your Furnace

By VIVIAN BROWN
Associated Press Writer

Your furnace should be tucked away for the summer, too.

First, be sure to make all necessary repairs on home heating equipment and do this as soon as the heating season is over.

By adding to the life of your furnace you'll help keep vital metals going into implements of war. By doing the work yourself you'll save manpower, gasoline and tires. And you'll actually save fuel, too.

All furnaces, whether oil, soft coal or anthracite, need regular cleanings. Ashes or dust which collect on the heat - absorbing surfaces are the greatest coal wasters of them all.

The remedy is simple. If you have a cylinder type vacuum cleaner you can use one of the dusting attachments to do the job. If no such vacuum cleaner is available then a long-handled wire flue brush will do the trick. Be sure you brush all the inside surfaces of the furnace thoroughly. If the flue pipe can be removed take it down and clean it, too.

Even the best heating equipment is subject to air leaks. Leaks are the second greatest coal waster. They actually short-circuit the draft, rob the fire of air needed for combustion, and chill the inside of the heater. Leaks are most common around furnace and the chimney doors, the smoke-pipe where one section joins another or where it enters the chimney. To locate leaks pass the flame of a candle around these surfaces. If the flame bends toward or into an opening then a leak is indicated.

To seal it all you need is a bit of furnace cement or a cement made of powdered asbestos and water.

Ship Heating Method Suggested for Homes

Heating equipment for a ship has to be extremely compact as well as capable of meeting a wide range of climatic conditions, and some of the things the heating industry is learning about the installation of its equipent on ships are likely to find application in the design of heating equipment for houses after Victory, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Heating equipment for ships must not only take up as little space as possible but it must be shorn of all excess weight and it must be built with the minimum use of critical metal, the Bureau points out.

It is primarily in the matter of compactness that ship heating is likely to influence heating for homes after the war, the Bureau suggests.

Cracked Walls Mar Effect of Furniture

Walls and ceilings are the background for furniture and furnishings, so it is essential that they be in good condition. No matter how tastefully a room may be decorated, it cannot make a good impression if the wall surfaces are cracked, broken or marred.

An excellent remedy for deteriorated interior walls and ceilings is the application of decorative insulating board. The result is a permanent and attractive surface which will never crack or fall. The insulating board is easy to apply, for it goes on right over the old plaster walls and ceilings.

As an added value especially desirable in these days of limited fuel supplies—a room thus refinished is insulated. It is, therefore, easier to heat and more comfortable in both winter and summer.

KEEPS SPIRITS UP

Sure-fire morale builder for a fighting man is a bath and fresh clothing. The Army and Navy are endeavoring to furnish the facilities for both. There is, on an average, one shower for every 12 men in army barracks and naval training stations.

22 Permits For Building Issued at Clerk's Office

Twenty-two permits for building, estimated to cost $5,730 were issued between May 3 and June 7, according to records of Mrs. Mayme Gorton, city clerk. The following, along with their addresses, nature of work and estimated costs, were issued permits: Mrs. Jane Bent, remodel dwelling at 984 North State street, $125; Harry Lewis, garage at 284 Oak street, $200; Mrs. Mary Emmans, remodel porch at 342 South Prospect street, $100; Thomas Hughes, shed at corner of Erie and Owens streets, $125; John Embsden, shed and one room addition to dwelling at North Grand avenue, $100; Mrs. Floyd McAllister, porch at 294 Bellevue avenue, $200; Fred W. Smith, double garage at 291 Davids street, $150; Mrs. Lewis Siders, enclose porch at 474 Davids street, $125; Gaylord Elkins, shed at 214 Edwards street, $15; L. R. Wilcox, addition to dry cleaning establishment at 650 East Center street, $150; Warren Rowland, repair garage and one room addition to dwelling, $200; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cull, enclose porch at 411 East Mark street, $35; Mrs. N. G. Irvin, remodel dwelling at 376 North Greenwood street, $150; Harry Tomassini, remodel bronze and metal works plant at 881 West Center street, $600; Vincie Adein Bull, convert dwelling into two apartments at 143 Hill street, $600; Frank Smith, addition to dwelling at 680 Hocking street, $500; Vernon Iler, remodel porch at 306 Blaine avenue, $40; E. E. Webb, enclose porch at 236 North Seffner avenue, $75; C. A. Tanner, shed at 587 North Prospect street, $25; Mrs. Effie R. Slack, garage at 845 Merkle avenue, $150; Mrs. Olive Tate, remodel porch at 581 Grant street, $50; Silver Street Mission, remodel porch at 836 Silver street, $15.

FREE HEATING ADVIBCE

It is patriotic to conserve every pound of coal possible. The best way to do this is to keep your heating equipment in perfect condition. If you are experiencing any difficulty with your furnace or stoker a letter setting forth your trouble will receive a prompt reply if addressed to Fuel Engineering division, Appalachian Coals, Inc., Transportation building, Cincinnati. There is no charge for this service.

SPOT REMOVER

Small spots of grease on the wallpaper, such as spatters near a kitchen stove, can be removed while fresh by using a warm iron over clean blotting paper. Another method is the application of fuller's earth to absorb the grease. This should not be brushed off for several hours.

BUILDERS CAN LEAVE ROOM FOR TUB LATER

Wartime Restriction Shouldn't Alter Plans for Bath.

Because the manufacture of enameled cast iron was discontinued some months ago as a means of conserving the supply of this critical metal, many houses now being built or remodeled lack this typical American facility.

Today's planning should provide for a bathtub in the future. It is a simple and inexpensive matter to reserve space for a tub to be installed later when this fixture is again available.

There are purposes and preferences which only the bathtub can meet. Thus, irrespective of the fact that the house built during the war may have a shower, it is advisable to plan now for a bathtub to be added later.

Women especially insist upon tub bathing facilities for their own use, for children, and for members of the family who may be physically frail.

It is a comparatively easy matter, to plan for a tub when building a house. Concealed piping can be installed now. Space can be left for the tub so that when the fixture is available, it can be installed without the necessity of moving partitions or doing any costly remodeling.

It is always advisable to have a bathtub installed with a hanger to prevent cracks around the rim of the fixture.

Now Is Time To Get Heating Plant Ready for Efficient Use Next Winter

Having just undergone the rigors of an old-fashioned winter, most homeowners are more heating conscious than ever before and more disposed to take whatever steps are necessary to insure the efficient functioning of their plants next winter, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau observes.

Because last winter was unprecedented in its severity in many sections of the country, there was greater wear and tear on the average heating plant with consequent greater need for repairs and replacements, the bureau points out.

Such repairs and replacements should be started at once. The manpower shortage as well as the material shortage makes it imperative that heating repair and maintenance work be spread over the spring and summer as much as possible.

Heating repair work has always been highly seasonal with most of the service calls coming in August, September and October, the bureau says. This year the curve must be flattened out, if all the heating plants that need attention are to get it before winter starts.

The continued need for fuel conservation, both liquid and solid, makes it imperative, too, that heating plants be kept in efficient operating condition.

P-84, the WPB's plumbing and heating repair and maintenance order, is still in effect and can be used by dealers to obtain the parts necessary for essential repairs and replacements. Stocks of such parts, however, are limited, and this is another reason for immediate action.

Owners of hot water and steam heating plants should call a heating and piping contractor for a spring cleaning and checking of the heating plant. Owners of warm air furnaces should call a furnace dealer.

It always pays to let an expert do work requiring skill and experience, and this is particularly true of heating plant maintenance work. Only trained men have the knowledge of materials, fuels and combustion to offer competent advice and skilled service on heating problems.

FOR CIGARET BURNS

A bad cigaret burn on a table may be treated by gently scraping the burn with a razor blade (fine steel wool would do the trick if we could get it). Wipe off the dust and touch up the place with two or three applications of quick drying varnish, using a fine camel's hair brush.

Realtors To Work as Tomato Pickers

Members of the Lafayette, Ind., real estate board, have signed up for the duration as tomato pickers.

The first of many business groups in Indiana to take definite action, the Lafayette board recently voted to give half or full days, as necessary, in helping to pick tomatoes to help relieve the farm labor shortage in harvesting crops during the coming season.

Many farmers in Indiana, the board pointed out, were hesitating to sign tomato acreage contracts for fear they would not be able to harvest the crop.

PREDICTS "WOOD ERA"

Representative Pittinger (R.-Minn.), predicts that new war uses for lumber foreshadow an "era of wood" in which forest products will play an important role in world reconstruction. He called attention to the fact the United States Army carried with it American lumber treated with a salts preservative against termites and decay for bomber ferry bases in Africa.

DON'T BE MISLED ABOUT HOME INSULATION

There is a WRONG and a RIGHT way to install Rock Wool in new houses during construction. The RIGHT way (below) costs little, if any, more but makes a world of difference in year-round comfort and fuel savings.

Often people are told they are buying an insulated house when actually the walls and attic spaces are unevenly protected with loose rock wool as shown in upper photograph. Don't take chances. See us and get the new Johns-Manville Super-Felt Batts for a scientific insulating job like the one in the photograph to the right.

ROCK WOOL is one of the most effective insulating materials for making houses cooler in summer, warmer in winter. But it must be properly installed—thin spots in walls and attic spaces reduce its value! That is why we recommend J-M Super-Felt Rock Wool Batts at full wall thickness and proper density.

J-M Super-Felt Batts have waterproof backing. They are the finest insulation money can buy, but they won't cost you anything in the long run because they pay for themselves out of fuel savings!

Freeze Restaurant Prices in 19 Ohio Counties

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 12—The office of price administration's order freezing prices of restaurant meals and beverages became effective today in 19 northeastern Ohio counties.

The directive specified that no hotel, restaurant, cafe, delicatessen, soda fountain, boarding house or other eating or drinking establishment may charge more than the highest price received between April 4 to 10 and that menus must so indicate.

Walter S. Wood, president of the Northeastern Ohio restaurant association, recently appointed a committee to meet with regional OPA officials to discuss methods of complying with the order.

After conferring with the group, Dr. Edward C. Welsh, regional OPA price executive, declared "responsible restaurant operators have kept their prices generally in line with President Roosevelt's 'hold the line' order and have not raised their prices above the April 4 to 10 date."

MRS. ROOSEVELT CRITICAL OF FOOD PARLEY METHODS

Declares Press Relations Were Stupidly Handled.

By The Associated Press

NORWALK, Conn., June 12.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, while declaring that the nature of the Hot Springs, Va., United Nations food conference made secrecy necessary, says she believes the meeting was "stupidly handled" in regard to the manner in which it was presented to the press.

At the close of an address she gave here Thursday night, a member in the audience asked Mrs. Roosevelt:

"How can we continue to have faith in the country when we were refused information on the food conference?"

"What I am about to say will displease some newspapers. The good that can be done through a conference is always done when all facts are obtained. The food conference in question was held to get facts and to make recommendations for future meetings.

"The first reaction of people at such a conference might be bad and reporters, asking questions, might get an entirely different slant on the subject. Later, this man who might have given his reaction to the press might find that he was wrong. It is hard to correct this first impression after it has hit the public press. The trouble in the food confgrence was in the way it was presented to the press. I think it was stupidly handled. I believe that we should trust the press much more than the trust that was shown at this conference."

Flag Display Regulations

Flag day, June 14, recalls the importance of the American flag to all citizens of the United States and the importance is stressed more now, when the nation is engaged in war, than during peace time. The rules on the proper display of the flag of the United States as approved by the war department are reprinted here as follows:

The flag should be displayed only from sunrise to sunset, or between such hours as may be designated by proper authority. It should be hoisted briskly but should be lowered slowly and ceremoniously.

When carried in a procession with another flag or flags, the flag of the United States of America should be either on the marching right, i.e., the flag's own right, or when there is a line of other flags, the flag of the United States of America may be in front of the center of that line.

When displayed with another flag against a wall from crossed staffs, the flag of the United States should be on the right, the flag's own right, and its staff should be in front of the staff of the other flag.

When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the union should be uppermost and to the flag's own right, i.e., to the observer's left. When displayed in a window it should be displayed the same way, that is with the union or blue field to the left of the observer in the street.

When displayed over the middle of the street, the flag should be suspended vertically with the union to the north in an east and west street or to the east in a north and south street.

When the flag is displayed in the body of the church, it should be from a staff placed in the position of honor at the congregation's right as they face the clergyman. If in the chancel or on the platform, the flag should be placed on the clergyman's right as he faces the congregation.

The American flag should not be permitted to touch the ground, or trail in the water and it should not be used as drapery or decoration, where bunting of blue, white and red is in order.

NATIONS UNITED

Will Win the "VICTORY" and the "PEACE"

Mark this day on your calendar—for it is one you will long remember: one you will add to those historic dates which you observe faithfully year by year, because they mark the course of our civilization with outstanding significance. This is June 14th: you have observed it before as Flag Day. You have flown Old Glory from your lawn or window, and have taken the children aside to tell them the story of our flag.

But now, June 14th will see many more flags of many more nations unfurled across this land—the flags of all the United Nations with whom we fight for freedom. And you will have a new stride in history to interpret for the children.

You will tell them how, in August 1941, the President of our land and the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland met somewhere at sea and how from that meeting the Atlantic Charter was created . . . and you will tell them that this Atlantic Charter then became the foundation for a Declaration by United Nations—26 at first, to which more were added as they were able to create their own fighting forces against fascism.

"Complete victory over freedom's enemies—in defense of life, liberty, independence and religious freedom, and to preserve human rights in their own lands as well as in other lands."

These words tell for what purpose the United Nations now fight as one. Their teamwork will win the war; for they are united in militance. Their teamwork will win the peace; for their objective is the welfare of every liberty loving man, woman and child around the globe!

FLAG DAY JUNE 14th

Comply with President Roosevelt's suggestion that all Americans display flags of the United Nations!

City's Aid at Airport Sought

Council Asked To Support Efforts To Keep Municipal Landing Field Open During War Emergency.

The aviation committee of the Marion Chamber of Commerce has urged the president of city council, Robert Stief, that members of council at their meeting Monday night make all possible efforts to keep open the Marion municipal airport during the war emergency.

The aviation committee, headed by J. B. Bray, met Friday and drafted the letter which was forwarded to council.

Several members of the committee plan to visit council in its meeting Monday night and urge that council work closely with members of the local Civil Air Patrol wing in maintaining the airport.

Recently members of the finance and airport committees of city council visited with the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee and representatives of the Civil Air Patrol at the airport. Members of the finance and airport committees of council who visited the airport have individually expressed themselves as desirous of keeping the airport open during the war.

The Civil Air Patrol is now the lessee of the airport.

CAP Volunteers Service

Since A. A. Freeman terminated his lease of the airport to enter active duty in the U. S. Army, members of the Civilian Air Patrol volunteered to keep the airport in operation until more permanent arrangements could be worked out. The local unit of the Civilian Air Patrol is headed by Lt. W. R. Reichenstein.

In order to keep an airport open in war time, it is mandatory that guards be furnished 24 hours of the day and that a clearance officer be on hand during daylight hours seven days of each week. The Marion county office of civilian defense has been lending some financial assistance to the Civilian Air Patrol in their effort to keep the airport during war time.

Inasmuch as the United States Army has recently taken over full control of the Civilian Air Patrol, belief is expressed that our own municipal government will be required to render such financial assistance as is required by the voluntary organization now operating the airport. It is pointed out that Marion's airport is not being kept open for the benefit of the Civilian Air Patrol but that the members of this organization have contributed time and money to make it possible for the airport to be open for visiting aircraft.

60 Planes In Month

During May some 60 aircraft from other airports landed and took off again at our airport. Not one of these ships is permitted to leave any airport in war time without properly executed clearance papers from the clearance officer on duty.

The Civilian Air Patrol is also willing to give to the industries of Marion the same courier service as is in operation in most importance. To offer this emergency flying service, Marion must have suitable airport facilities and the Civilian Air Patrol must maintain licensed pilots and approved ships.

U. S. Fliers in Africa Due for Vacation

By The Associated Press

AN ADVANCE AMERICAN AIR BASE IN NORTH AFRICA, June 12—Capitulation of Pantelleria meant a free trip home for a number of fliers who completed their 50th combat mission.

Exultant enthusiasm, felt at every allied airfield across Africa at this smashing historic victory of air power, was summarized by an Ohioan:

"This time there can't be any question about 'too little or too late,'" said Lieut Frank J. Kuncel, B-17 bombardier of Lorain, O., for whom the victory meant the end of his African flying career.

"For days we have been dropping tons of bombs on the island and we even beat the Navy and the invasion barges there," he added.

Next Shoe Stamp Good Until Oct. 31, OPA Says

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 12—The office of price administration announced today that the new shoe ration stamp which becomes valid next Wednesday must last civilians through October 31.

The stamp is No. 18 in the sugar-coffee book. Stamp 17, first of the shoe ration stamps, expires Tuesday night.

The new stamp will have to last for four and one-half months, which is 11 days longer than stamp 17 However, OPA said the dates were in line with the policy of providing an average of three pairs per person per year.

As in the case of stamp 17, stamp 18 will be transferable within a family so that, for instance, a parent who does not need his stamp may use it for a child.

RAF RAIDS

west Germany, and Duesseldorf, iron and steel works center in the Rhineland, were dealt shattering blows in the resumption of round-the-clock attacks.

The RAF attack on Germany's third largest inland port city was described authoritatively as "very heavy," which probably meant the assault was comparable to the recent 1,500-to-2,000-tons raids aimed at obliterating German industrial centers one by one.

It was the 53rd raid on this big Ruhr target, which received its heaviest blasting on May 25 when about 500 British bombers dumped almost 2,000 tons of explosives upon its great iron and steel works.

The 8th U S air force was the first to break the two-week lull yesterday when it sent the big, four-engined planes through swarms of enemy fighters and heavy flak on the 800-mile round trip to northwest Germany.

ANTI-STRIKE BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

Senate Approval of Measure Considered Certain.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 12—Opponents aimed a final and apparently futile blast of criticism as the senate moved today toward final action on legislation designed to prevent strikes in war industries.

Fought bitterly by organized labor, the Connally-Hatch bill authorizing government seizure of strike-threatened war plants or mines, and imposing new restrictions on union activities was passed in its final form by the house yesterday. The vote was 219 to 129.

Proponents viewed senate approval as certain.

The bill strengthens the war labor board's power to deal with the coal wage and other disputes disrupting production, requires a 30-day notice and majority vote on a secret ballot before a strike could be called in any privately-operated war industry, and bans union contributions to political campaigns.

Beyond this, the measure would impose a $5,000 fine or a year's imprisonment on any person convicted of instigating or encouraging a strike in a government-controlled plant or industry, although individual employes could not be punished for quitting jobs. Since the government could take over when any labor controversy threatened interruption of production, in effect it could outlaw any strike in a war plant or mine.

Vote of Ohio congressmen on the bill was:

Republicans for — Brown, Clevenger, Elston, Hess, Jenkins, Jones, McCowen, McGregor, Rowe, Smith, Vorys.

Republicans against — Bender, Bolton, Brehm, Jeffrey, Lewis, Ramey.

Democrats against — Crosser, Feighan, Kirwan.

Republicans absent or not voting—Wolchel, Carson, Griffiths.

Program Presented At Pensioners' Meeting

The Old Age Pensioners of Marion county met for a business and program hour Friday afternoon in the Labor Union hall. The song, "America," Lord's Prayer and Salute to the Flag by the audience opened the meeting. T. F. Manhart and W. F. Porter reported on recipients and during the business session a communication from Ira C. Albert, state secretary of the Old Age Pensioners society, concerning a state convention to be held at Springfield, was read. It was voted to send the president, Arthur Hershner, as a representative from the society.

The program included a vocal duet, "The Old Rugged Cross," by Mrs. Rose Seiter and Mrs. Louise Hornbeck, and solos "Leaving the Old Home, Jim?" and "Mother, I'm Saved Tonight," sung by Rev. Nola West. A young woman from Rev West's class also contributed a piano number and Rev. West gave the talk for the afternoon, taking her theme from the Book of Proverbs. A song, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," by the choir, a song, "I Won't Have To Cross Jordan Alone," and the benediction by Rev. West, closed the meeting.

CENTER OF CONTROVERSY. Charles W. Forbes (above), convict at Colorado penitentiary, Canon City, Colo., holds a copy of the song hit, "You'll Never Know," about whose authorship a controversy rages. Forbes, 24, claims that he is the author of the song, but the New York firm which published it says that it was composed by Mack Gordon and Harry Warren for a motion picture. Prison Warden Roy Best said he would conduct an inquiry into Forbes' claims.

Germans Finally Realize Terrific Air Blows Ahead

By DeWITT MACKENZIE

Coincident with the admission in Hitler's newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter that the allied bombing of German cities is "a damned serious thing" there comes from the Eighth United States air force headquarters in England the disclosure of a great increase in our bomber strength which is playing its part in the devastating day and night bombardment of the Nazis.

Our commander, Major General Ira C. Eaker, states that the American air fleet in Britain increases from fifteen to thirty per cent monthly. He says it has doubled since March, and will be doubled again between now and October.

Those figures are highly significant in view of the all-round allied offensive in Europe. They fascinate me because of an estimate which was given me while I was in Britain last October. I was told then by well informed quarters that if the American and British bomber forces in Britain could be trebled in number, by the first of this year, it would be possible to reduce Hitler's strength enough by spring so that an army could be landed in France off the channel without excessive losses.

Increase Came Slowly

In other words, some three months' intensive bombing with the trebled forces would pave the way for invasion.

Well, increases in the two air fleets were slow in coming. Spring arrived with the fuehrer still too tough for invasion, though the speeding up of the Anglo-American bombing operations showed that business was improving. Both Americans and British were getting more bombers.

Now it would appear that the two fleets may be approaching the magic figure which was mentioned to me. That wouldn't represent excessive number at all, but enough to rub the frosting off Herr Hitler's ginger-bread.

General Eaker decorated his disclosure with a touch of finality by remarking that American fighter and medium bomber forces in Britain also are growing rapidly and will be ready to pull their weight in an invasion of Europe. Absolute supremacy of the air will be necessary for that great undertaking, and these lighter warplanes will do yeoman's service.

General Inspires Confidence

Incidentally I had a chance to get acquainted with the general and found him a sturdy character who inspires great confidence. His statement is bound to set German experts to figuring on what is in store for them.

The Berlin correspondent of the Stockholm Tidningen reports that informed Nazi military circles admit they can no longer hide the fact that the effect of daily round-the-clock bombing is "awful on the health and nerves of the people," even if bombs don't fall in their immediate neighborhood. That's understandable because even trained soldiers break under bombardments which roo them of any chance to sleep, to say nothing of the shock of the great explosions.

In this connection Emil Ludwig, the German biographer, has expressed the belief before the house foreign affairs committee in Washington that bombing "is the deciding factor that will break the Germans."

That's interesting testimony as coming from a German. However, while such a collapse certainly is possible, it will be a mistake for us to bank on it. If it comes, well and good but it will take a terrific pounding to bring it about."

Crippled Fortress Circles Over Ohio

AFRICA

farther from axis air and sea support than was Pantelleria.

Heavy bombers from the desert air force, however, were busy seeing to it that no aid would be forthcoming, and blasted at Reggio Calabria on the toe of Italy Thursday night. A hangar was blown up and others set afire.

Malta airmen also attacked targets at Pozzallo and Milazzo in Sicily.

During the final dramatic hours of the surrender of Pantelleria, 45 miles off Cap Bon and the first enemy island fortress ever to succumb to air power alone, allied airmen were over the stronghold continuously and soon after midday warded off 50 to 60 German dive bombers which attempted to break up the British invasion convoy.

Fourteen of the dive-bombers were shot down and only two allied planes were lost.

(The claim, not borne out by any allied source, was made by the German radio today that an 8,000-ton troop transport and 13 landing boats were sunk in the German attack. Three cruisers, eight other warships and six transports were heavily damaged, the radio asserted.)

The first bristling protection for the convoy was furnished by Lieut. Col. Arthur Salisbury of Sedalia, Mo., and American Warhawk pilots he commanded in African fighting from El Alamein, Egypt, to Tunis.

They spotted five Messerschmitts and dispersed the formation, forcing them to jettison their bombs in a running fight and shooting down one.

Reports Surrender Sign

Shortly afterward, Lieut Col. John D. Stevenson of Laramie, Wyo., 29-year-old group commander of American fighter-bombers, saw a large white cross on the airdrome and sent the message, "complete surrender signal been sighted." He made a return sweep later and saw about a dozen crosses.

Shortly after the noon landing by British troops in Pantelleria harbor American Spitfires intercepted 36 Messerschmitt 109s and Focke-Wulf 190s approaching the British naval and transport formations. The Americans were outnumbered three to one. Most of the Germans jettisoned their bombs and five of the Messerschmitts were downed.

Later another American Spitfire formation drove off 15 Focke-Wulf and Messerschmitt fighter-bombers before they could reach the ships and in the dogfight shot down four of the Focke-Wulfs and two of the Messerschmitts.

Two more enemy aircraft were shot down by the coastal command.

No enemy planes were encountered as the allies diverted their bombers to Lampedusa.

Pantelleria, first enemy fortress island in the world to surrender to air power, becomes a vital base for allied domination of the Mediterranean.

From there fighter planes can provide cover for bombers ranging over the western half of Sicily while others from Malta cover the east.

(The air ministry in London today called this "one of the most important features" of the island's capture.)

Conquest of Pantelleria provides an airfield only 65 miles from Sicily. It also affords shelter for naval craft.

Rules for Casting Tourney

Annual Contests To Be Staged Monday at McKinley Park Lake by Lions Club Committee.

Complete list of rules for the fourth annual Lions club casting tournament to be held at the McKinley park lake Monday evening at 6:30 has been drawn up by Cecil W. Gabler and John Peacock, co-chairmen.

Rules for the five events in the tournament are as follows:

(1) Bait casting for distance

Each contestant will make three casts and will be rated by the longest cast. No leaders permitted.

(2) Bait casting for accuracy

Targets will be 30-inch bicycle tires, anchored at distances from 45 to 80 feet. Each contestant will take his place in the box and cast at each of the five targets designated by the clerk when his name is read. After the completion of the first round, a second round will be cast with the targets called in reverse order.

This event will be scored on a demerit system as follows:

For each foor or fraction of a foot each plug falls outside the tire, one demerit will be given. If the plug strikes the edge of the target or falls inside, it will be scored "00; a miss of three feet "3", etc. Total number of demerits for the 10 casts, subtracted from 100 will total an individual score for the event.

(3) Bait casting for distance and accuracy

One target is placed 100 feet from the casting platform. Three casts to each contestant will be given with each cast rated in the bait casting for accuracy event. Score for the event will be the result of subtracting total demerits for the three casts from 100.

(4) Fly Casting for Distance

Each contestant will make three casts and will be rated by the longest. As many false casts may be made as necessary but a backcast that touches the ground will disqualify the forward cast.

(5) Fly Casting for Accuracy

Five targets will be strung out on a straight line from the casting box in distances ranging from 35 to 55 feet. The caster will extend enough line to reach the first target, will call "score" and cast at the first ring. He will repeat with a second cast at the first ring, then strip off enough to reach the second target, lift the line, make his backcast and shoot at the second target. He will repeat this process with the remaining targets. Same system of scoring will be used as in the bait casting event, with an additional demerit if any backcast touches the ground.

In all bait casting events, a 4-ounce casting plugs will be used. A contestant may furnish his own plug but the Lions club will have some available. In the fly events a barbless fly furnished by the participant will be used.

This year's tournament is open to anyone. Tourney Clerk Boo Cunningham will register all entries at McKinley park Monday at the time of the tournament.

10,000 NORSEMEN STUCK IN SWEDEN

Effort Being Made To Get Them Back Into Battle.

By International News Service

LONDON —Ten thousand men who risked their lives to escape from Norway to continue their fight against the Axis are today marooned in Sweden—apparently for the duration.

Lars Evenson, vice-president of the Norwegian Trade-Union Council, who has arrived in Britain from Stockholm, described something of their plight and pleaded for some means to get them back into the battle.

"They found on their arrival in Sweden that there was no chance of getting a seat in the mail plane and no other chance of leaving Sweden."

Evenson claimed that "the loan of a few transport planes for a week or two would solve their problem and bring thousands of fine men into the ranks of the United Nations."

He also declared that another 15,000 refugees, many of them women and children, as well as men up to the age of 80, had crossed the frontier into Sweden to escape the privations and tyranny of Nazi-occupied Norway.

"The young men—who number at least 10,000 — have taken jobs wherever possible to keep alive. Some have managed to get through to Russia; others have crossed back into Norway hoping to get across the North Sea to Britain. But most of them are still there — marooned, and hoping."

POTENTIAL DEATH. A soldier protected by mask, hood, goggles and coat fills a steel cylinder with potential death at the eastern arsenal of the U. S. Army Chemical Warfare service. He symbolizes the threat behind President Roosevelt's said that there are indications the Axis will resort to gas warfare and that the U. S. promises full and swift retaliation in kind."

Palace Program Featured by Technicolor Western

Randolph Scott, Glenn Ford Head Cast in "Desperadoes"; Ann Miller Picture Coming.

"Desperadoes" starring Randolph Scott, Glenn Ford, Claire Trevor and Evelyn Keyes, will start Sunday at the Palace theater and continue through Wednesday.

A sun-drenched frontier town is the setting for this new technicolor Western. Into Red Valley rides Cheyenne Rogers, man-hunted killer. He discovers he knows Steve, the town's new sheriff; he finds the Countess, who runs a gambling hall, is a former childhood sweetheart; he falls in love with a girl, and learns that her father is the man for whom he planned to rob the bank!

Trying to go straight, Cheyenne is caught in a mesh of romance and intrigue which leads him straight to a legal lynching. Escaping, with the aid of the sheriff, he returns to Red Valley long enough to learn the truth about the goings-on of some of the "better" citizens.

Ford, whose rise to stardom has been a swift, steady one, tops his finest performance as Cheyenne, the soft-spoken killer who wants to reform.

Starting Thursday and continuing through Saturday is "Reveille With Beverly" starring Ann Miller.

A parade of name bands and radio personalities appear with Miss Miller in this tune-filled comedy. It is a down-to-earth story founded on fact and expertly blends music and comedy, romance and rhythm as it describes the origin of one of radio's most popular broadcasts. The program under discussion, "Revielle With Beverly", is heard in the extra-early morning hours. Intended for the "yardbirds" in the Army camps, it supplies them with breezy chatter and toe-tapping tunes.

Miss Miller effectively appears as the swing-loving switchboard operator who insists that America's listening public would like to listen to swing.

Selected short subjects and news reels are shown with both pictures.

ALICE FAYE (above), is co-starring with John Payne in the technicolor film, "Hello, Frisco, Hello," now showing at the Ohio theater.

Alice Faye on Ohio Bill

Starred in "Hello, Frisco, Hello"; Friday First Day for "Mission to Moscow."

"Hello, Frisco, Hello," starring Alice Faye and John Payne, is now playing at the Ohio theater and will continue through Monday.

This musical, filmed in technicolor, brings Alice Faye back to the screen for her first appearance in over a year. The story is set on San Francisco's Barbary Coast. Four entertainers are trying to get on in the show world. The dynamo of the outfit is John Payne, but the real drawing card is Miss Faye whose voice and appearance draws in the crowds. With Jack Oakie and June Havoc, their struggle to the top provides a neat background for the appealing musical production numbers.

Starting Tuesday and playing through Thursday is "Casablanca" with Humphrey Bogart and Ingrid Bergman.

This film, taking its title from the Moroccan city that figured so largely in the recent war news, has to do with refugees from war-torn Europe and their attempts to secure exit visas to the Americas.

Although the story deals generally with the illicit trade in visas, the love story of Humphrey Bogart and Ingrid Bergman figures prominently and is responsible for much of the swift pace of the picture.

Starting Friday and continuing for seven days is "Mission to Moscow" starring Walter Huston and Ann Harding.

This is the story of a clear-visioned American ambassador, Joseph E. Davies, played by Walter Huston, who was sent to learn the truth about Russia. It was no simple assignment, for that country was surrounded by, and part of, the welter of intrigues, suspicions and animosities of a world on the brink of war.

What the ambassador saw appears on the screen as his own eyes saw it. Churchill, Stalin, Litvinov, Shacht, Laval, Molotov and many other such widely-known figures are duplicated on the screen.

Program Presented at Grange Meeting

A meeting of Progressive Grange was held Tuesday evening in the grange hall with the Fairchild family as entertainers and Orlie Burks as chairman of the program. Accordion numbers were played by Richard and Darrell Fairchild and vocal duets were sung by Betty Kruger and Winifred Thomas accompanied by Naomi Scowden, followed by a solo from Anna Mae Fairchild. A reading was given by Laura Mae Wickersham and a letter from Bob Grice, who is now in the armed service in Australia, was read by Mrs. Alpheus Gruber, A. U. Click, W. T. Owen and Frank Fairchild were appointed as committee for the next meeting, which will be observed as charter member night.

Men Entering Service Receive Grange Gifts

During the business session at a meeting of Salt Rock Grange Tuesday night, the resignation of Miss Doris Ulmer, as lady assistant steward was accepted. She is attending Capital university at Columbus. During the lecture hour Dick Newland and Wesley Bishop, who are leaving for service soon, were each presented a gift. Quotations from well known poets were read about the month of June. "A Mother's Thought" was the title of a poem read by Mrs. Stella Roberts, and Floyd Barrett gave a reading, "A Prayer on Every Star." Mrs. Mary Cook, chaplain, offered "A Service Man's Prayer." A. J. Bishop and George Bosley Jr. chose sides for an indoor baseball game, with a quiz on local, state and national government.

A countywide Grange meeting, sponsored by Pomona, to be held at Morral school on June 22 was announced. There are to be games, music and a pie social. All fourth degree members are requested to be present.

Highway Tractors Plow 900 Acres Daily in Ohio

COLUMBUS, O., June 12—State highway department tractors are plowing and harrowing Ohio farms at a rate of 900 acres a day in an effort to overcome setbacks in the Buckeye victory food program, Director Hal G. Sours reported today.

Eighty state-owned tractors manned by department workers are being used in 47 northern and central Ohio counties to combat crop delays attributed to the weather and labor shortages. On some farms work is proceeding day and night, Sours said. Farmers pay rental for the machines.

Sours estimated at least 9,000 acres of farm land would be ready for seeding within 10 days as a result of the tractor program.

Hanover Driver Steals Show in Second Racing Program

Gabe Cartnal Finishes First in Three Heats.

BY LOREN W. TIBBALLS
Marion Star Sports Editor

GABE CARTNAL, wily Hanover, O., horseman, The Walnut Abbe, the fancy pacer, owned by Columbus' C. H. Bowen and driven by Mr. Cartnal, and Archie Hanover, a four-year-old trotter owned by John Kelly of Bangor, Me., and driven by Harry Short of Washington C. H. shared the spotlight in the second session of Marion's 15-night Little Grand Circuit harness race meeting at the county fairground last night.

The Hanover reinsman steered The Walnut Abbe, a six-year-old bearing a record of 2:06, ahead of a field of seven in the first two heats of the featured 2:15 class pace, winning the opener in the remarkably fast time of 2:09½ and the second in 2:10½. The handsome brown gelding finished second to Mr. Vole, owned by Walter Dunwoody of Newark and raced by his brother, Eddie. In winning the third heat, a nine-sixteenths of a mile dash, the Newark-owned victor covered the shortened distance in 1.08, a full second and a half under the meet's previous low for nine sixteenths of a mile.

Repeat 1942 Feat

The combined performance of The Walnut Abbe and Mr. Cartnal, except for the third heat, ended exactly the same as the six-year-old's maiden start in the 1942 running of the Little Grand Circuit races. A year ago, Cartnal booted the Columbus horse to three heat victories in sweeping the featured 2:19 pace highlighting the second night program of the 1942 meeting.

In last night's fifth race, second heat of the 2:18 pace, Cartnal wheeled Moon Flower, a five-year-old pacer owned by Mrs. G. A. LaBolteux of Perrysburg, to victory after staving off a backstretch bid by Frisco Pat, owned by Otis Anderson of Lafayette, Ind., and driven by Denny Shell, initial race winner of the 1943 race season.

These three victories boosted Mr. Cartnal into first place among the driving colony heat winners at the half-mile fairground track. In the first two programs the Hanover speedster has won four heats. Denny Shell, winner of two in the getaway program, added one more last night for a total of three and second place among the winning drivers. Winners of two heats each are Jack Brown of Allentown, Pa., Louis Huber of Cincinnati, both first night double winners, and Harry Short of Washington C. H. Single heat winners are Ernest Smith of Washington C. H., Jake Mahoney of Shelbyville, Ind., Everett Osborn of Wichita, Kan., Harry Goodhart of Reading, Pa., Eddie Dunwoody of Newark, Clint Hodgins of Shelbyville, Ind., and L. A. Bolser of Cincinnati.

Other 2:18 Winners

While Mr. Cartnal won one third of the 2:18 pacing event, Frisco Pat, owned by Otis Anderson of Lafayette, Ind., and driven by Mr. Shell, won the first heat and Bonnie Volo, another Hoosier prize, won the third heat with Clint Hodgins driving.

The two Hoosier models were leading contenders in all three heats. The pair staged a neck and neck race to the wire in the first heat and a photo finish was required by Presiding Judge Joe McGraw before Frisco Pat was judged the winner.

Bonnie Volo stepped the third heat, an exciting nine sixteenths event, in 1:09½ to easily win. But four horses were grouped together at the finish wire and again the magic eye camera was needed to determine the place and show horses.

Jolly Lee, owned by Cincinnati's L. A. Bolser finished 4-1 to cop the first division of the 2:26 trot J. M. Axworthy, finishing 1-5, a 3-3 finisher and Lucy S. owned by Uzal Martz of Pottsville, Pa., a 3-3 finished and Lucy S. owned by Elmer Junk of Washington C. H., 2-4, tied for third.

Exhibiting some of the best driving to be seen since the start of the three-week meeting, Harry Short of Washington C. H. sent Archie Hanover to easy heat victories.

1,800 See Program

Attending last night's session was a crowd estimated by Race Secretary Frank M. Foster at 1,600. The attendance was considerably below the opening night turnout and the drop was the result of Friday night store hours in the downtown district, race officials said.

Opening night pari-mutuel betting exceeded by a "considerable amount" the $4,163 wagered on opening night a year ago. George Reverman, operator of the pari-mutuel plant, said last night's betting was good.

Bettors, in general, have expressed pleasure at the prices being paid here. Highest return on a $2 ticket so far was the $76.20 paid to quinella winners Thursday night. The opening night daily double paid $20.40. Daily double tickets on J. M. Axworthy, first race winner, and Frisco Pat, winner of the second race, refunded $40.20. Last night's quinella was good for $18.00.

Serving as outriders at the start of each race are Dr. H. G. Moreland and Lou Wickersham.

Tonight's fairground program, slated to start promptly at 8:15, will round out the first week program. Monday night's card brings up the first of 10 stake events. Program for the final two weeks of racing has been arranged to have at least one stake, or special event, on each night.

Tonight's Feature

Feature of tonight's card is the 12 class pace, which, in reality, will be a preview of one of the main stake programs to follow later in the meeting. Tonight's race brings together Cinzano (Bell), Gordon (Kyler), Josedale Tiger (Bowlby), Brown Derby (Brown), Tip Abbe (E. Al Zarilla of Toledo Boosts Batting Average

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 12—Al Zarilla, Toledo outfielder, whipped out 13 hits in 30 trips to the plate last week to consolidate his hold on second place in the American association batting race and make an appreciable gain on Hershel Martin, Milwaukee veteran, who has been in the lead most of the season.

Martin, returning to the lineup after an absence of eight days, could get only nine hits in 25 appearances to lower his average from .435 to .414, while Zarilla boosted his from .368 to .385.

Phil Weintraub of Toledo added another home run to bring his leading total to six and also shared the runs-batted-in-lead with Frey Clarke of Milwaukee, each with 27. Clarke also was setting the pace in total base hits with 74 and hits with 48.

The first three clubs in team fielding were St. Paul, .978; Columbus, .977 and Kansas City, .974; and the top three in team batting were Milwaukee, .291; Toledo, .274; and Columbus, .255.

Bob Logan of Indianapolis headed the pitching department with three wins and no losses.

SLIPPING PLAYERS FIND WELCOME MAT YANKED UP QUICKLY

Steve Mesner and Nick Etten Know How To Keep Latch String Out.

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's easy to wear out your welcome in baseball, as many a slumping star or slump-ridden manager can testify.

Let an aging hero strike one of those streaks when he can't buy a hit with all the gold at Fort Knox or let a highly-touted rookie fail to live up to expectations and soon there's talk of a "change of scenery."

Traded-off players have a habit of saving their best feats to show off before the fans who didn't want them any more.

Take for example Steve Mesner and Nick Etten.

Earns Third Trial

Mesner earned his third major league tryout with a fine season at Sacramento last year. He had been up before with the Cubs and Cardinals and then the Reds took him. But they soon decided he was just a surplus infielder after they acquired Eddie Miller from the Braves. Cincinnati tried to trade Steve to the Dodgers, who needed—and still need—a good shortstop, but Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis frowned on the deal because Mesner hadn't been given a real trial.

As a result, Mesner still was around when Manager Bill McKechnie decided to bench the light-hitting Bert Haas. Steve was given the job and it looks as if he has it for keeps, what with a .312 batting average, highest on the club, and good fielding to boot.

Mesner poked out two of the Reds' 14 hits to help rout the Cubs, 7 to 4, in a morning game yesterday. One of his hits came in the big sixth inning and figured in the four-run rally that began when Frank McCormick swung on a bad pitch on a hit-and-run play, caught Lenny Merullo out of position with a looper and Gerry Walker scored all the way from first on the play.

Bad Season In 1942

Etten, rated as nothing more than a fair first baseman, had a bad season with the Phillies in 1942 when his batting average fell off from .311 to .264. He got his big chance because the Yankees needed someone to cover first base—and he almost lost it when Ed Levy and Allen Gettel, who were traded for him, refused to report to Philadelphia. The Yanks finally dug up a couple of other players to replace them and Nick at once began to act like a Yankee.

Although he still is hitting well below .300, Etten hits a long ball. Last night he timed his hits perfectly, too, driving out a home run and a double to beat the Athletics, 2 to 1, before 25,229 Philadelphia fans.

The defeat dropped the Athletics into a four-place tie with the idle Boston Red Sox and only a point ahead of the Detroit Tigers, a situation that likely will be altered today when all the clubs in both leagues are scheduled for action for the first time since last Sunday.

Haegg Believes Record Smashing Unlikely Here

By The Associated Press

HANOVER, N. H., June 12—If American track followers are expecting Gunder Haegg, Sweden's sensational runner, to take off on another sensational world record smashing splurge, they probably will be disappointed, he implied today.

Haegg, now training at Dartmouth for his American debut in next week's national A.A.U. championships in New York, says he does not expect to regain the form he displayed last summer when he broke seven records from 1,500 to 50,000 meters in about 10 weeks.

The Swedish star has appeared uneasy about his lengthy American campaign.

All of Haegg's best running has been done in his homeland, particularly in Gaevle, where he resides and works as a fireman. His current trip is the fourth he has made outside of Sweden.

Lou Nova Knocks Out Paul Hartnek in Third

By The Associated Press

PORTLAND, Ore., June 12—Lou Nova, 204, the California heavyweight who is trying a comeback, easily polished off Paul Hartnek, 190, of Omaha last night.

Nova tore in with a heavy body attack in the third round to drop Hartnek for a nine-count and then knocked him out when he arose.

Nova next will meet Lee Savold in Chicago June 26.

Nation's Biggest Stable Here

Despite a poor start in Marion's Little Grand Circuit harness race program which opened Thursday and will continue through June 26, Bob Plaxico of Canton is still considered a leading contender for 1943 national driving honors.

Bob, a veteran Stark county trainer and driver, takes a good chance of capturing the coveted honors inasmuch as he boasts the nation's largest stable of trotters and pacers—28 head including some of America's finest harness racing flesh.

Last season Plaxico trained considerably fewer horses and ended up in third place among the nation's harness horse driving corps scoring 80 wins against 82 for Houston Stone and 81 for Wayne "Curly" Smart of Ostrander in Delaware county.

Plans All-Ohio Campaign

Except for one or possibly two excursions to out-of-state tracks, Plaxico expects to race his big string at Ohio tracks exclusively this summer. This certainly will not minimize his chances of winning the national driving championship because Ohio is expected to be the center of harness racing activities in this war year.

Ten of the Plaxico 28 are stabled in barns on the fairground plot and the remaining 18 were recently shipped to North Randall, where Herbie Roth, Plaxico's chief assistant, will ready them for the rich three-week stand immediately following Marion's outstanding program.

Outstanding members of the Plaxico stable include Hi Pat, a two-minute pacer owned by George McCarney of Pontiac, Mich.; P. R. G. and Fez Hanover, with record times of 2.02¼ and 2:03¼, respectively, owned by L. J. Gottschalk of Milwaukee, Wis.; Gay Law, a steady three-year-old pacing prospect owned by O. C. Adelman of Mt. Vernon.

Big Stake Racer

Plaxico also is high in his praise of Scott Volo Jr., which owns a record of 2:05¼ over a half-mile track. This horse, owned by B. C. Baxter of Pontiac, Mich., is the heaviest stake racer in the Plaxico stable, being entered in the races carrying purses totaling in excess of $30,000. The Michigan-owned speedster is staked in the 12 class pace here.

The Canton driver also has in his stable Princess Mite, a 2:08¾ trotter owned by Roy Dickson of Mansfield. Being a slow class trotter, Princess Mite is eligible to participate in almost all classes.

O.S.U. BUCKS TUCK AWAY BIG TEN BASEBALL TITLE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 12—Ohio State university tucked away the Western Conference baseball title today, adding the diamond honors to three Big Ten and four national crowns the Buckeyes have won in other sports this school year.

The Bucks defeated Purdue 4 to 3 yesterday for their fifth win in six conference starts. Ohio meets the Boilermakers here again today.

The Buckeyes went out front in the second, getting three runs on two hits and three errors.

Each team got a run in the third inning, then Purdue picked up two more in the eighth on two hits and two Buckeye errors. Purdue pounded out 10 hits to eight for Ohio but Don Grate kept the Boilermakers bingles scattered.

The Bucks previously won the Big Ten and national football titles, the Western Conference tennis crown and these swim championships: Western Conference, National A.A.U. indoor and outdoor and the N.C.A.A.

Talk Makes Deacon Laugh

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 12 — This talk about a two-team National league race between the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals is a laugh to Manager Bill McKechnie of the Cincinnati Reds.

Not only is he sure his team will be right up there at the finish but also he criticizes that Frankie Frisch's Pittsburgh Pirates may muscle in, too.

"There's no outstanding team in the National league today," the Deacon declares. "As a matter of fact, there's no outstanding team in baseball."

The Reds, however, are one of the hottest items in the majors right now. They just wound up their first long home stand by winning nine games while dropping three. Caught in a four-day schedule vacuum in the National league, the Reds busied themselves with exhibitions and presented the potent Great Lakes sailors their first beating in 14 games Thursday.

They Beat Cubs

Yesterday they started their road trip in fine shape by beating the Chicago Cubs in a morning contest, 7 to 4, to retain their grip on third place.

The Reds have fallen down mainly in pitching so far, as the Deacon analyzes the situation. "We've been getting good work from Ray Starr and Elmer Riddle," he said, "but our other two starters, Johnny Vander Meer and Bucky Walters, haven't come along just right so far."

It's nothing to cause the Cincinnati pilot alarm. The infield has been working like a supercharged engine, with Eddie Miller master-minding the shortstop berth in excellent style. Eric Tipton, the former Duke [illegible] baller, is hitting solidly and firmly anchored the left field spot.

Walters' difficulties this year have been the Reds' main [illegible] however. A 27-game winner in 1939 and victor 22 times in 1940, Bucky hasn't had a decision with less than 15 wins since he joined the Reds in 1938. So far in 1943 he has won three and lost four, and was knocked out in his last start after 4⅓ innings by Boston a week ago.

Bucky's Ailment

"Something's wrong with Bucky," McKechnie said, "aside from the fact he was injured in spring training, because he came through all right after that. Beat Brooklyn 1 to 0 and beat the Cardinals. But we left him in Cincinnati a few days for a checkup."

Bucky rejoined the club yesterday professing not to know what, if anything, was wrong.

"Only symptom I have," he laughed, "is bats waiting for me when my eyes."

The Reds hope to strengthen their hold on third place today by sending Johnny Vander Meer to the mound against the Cubs. Jimmy Wilson, Bruin manager, is pitting former Redleg Claude Passeau against "No Hit" Vandy.

TOLEDO RACE MEET SET

[illegible] close, therefore, that [illegible] Mike Jacobs, who had [illegible] pleasure of counting a $55,- [illegible] house from a turnout of 13,- [illegible] customers, was more in- [illegible] today in talking of a re- [illegible] he was in his original [illegible] square the winner off [illegible] Bob Montgomery, [illegible] Bob's version of the [illegible] championship on the [illegible].

Sammy went out there by himself last night with hit-and-run stuff and right uppercuts for a while, and had Hank's perpetual motion operations looking like [illegible]'s jalopy without gas. [illegible] the buzzsaw took the brakes off and started to come, and what he did down the stretch, particularly with a right hand block[illegible] to the body in the eighth, made ever Sammy think that maybe there was something to this perpetual motion machine after all.

In the tenth, Sammy caught up with him again—and this tenth beat, if nothing else—probably [illegible] convinced the one-time middle-crown-holder that old pop [illegible] is still the head man. Anyway, in winding up in that finale woefully tired and with a badly [illegible] mouth that dripped blood for the last three heats, Armstrong looked like anything but the engine that never runs down. What he needed right there, as much as anything, was a grease-and-oil job.

Marine, Great Heavyweight Prospect

By The Associated Press

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—Pfc. Marty Schwartz figures he may have uncovered a second Gene Tunney—a marine who may prove to be the best heavyweight boxing prospect to come out of the military services in this war.

The possible contender for Joe Louis' crown is Pvt. Jack Vanderlinde, 17 years old, six-feet-one-inch tall, and weighing 190 pounds without an ounce of visible fat.

Trainer of Marine Sergeant Barney Ross in the years the latter held the junior welterweight, lightweight and welterweight championships of the world, Private Schwartz has served here as boxing instructor in the Marine Corps Base's Recruit Depot for almost a year and during that time has refereed approximately 300 bouts staged by young Marines from every section of the nation.

Vanderlinde, now serving as a physical instructor in the Recruit Depot, hails from Sioux City, South Dakota.

Changed His Mind

Schwartz, who calls Chicago home, thought for a time, that in Private Dudley Richardson, USMC, 24, of San Jose, California, also a six-footer and weighing 192, he had uncovered a likely looking heavyweight prospect. But when he matched the hard hitting Vanderlinde and Richardson he changed his mind. The strapping South Dakotan won the unanimous decision of the judges in a slambang three-round fight.

"I've seen hundreds of young fighters come and go, but I'm willing to go on record that this Vanderlinde is the best looking heavyweight prospect I have seen in many a year," said Schwartz.

So enthused is Schwartz over Vanderlinde that he spends a deal of time daily with the youth in teaching him the finer points of boxing.

"I used to be considered a good fighter in shipyard circles and in knocking about the country with my dad, a construction engineer, but this Vanderlinde is the best looking young heavyweight I ever swapped punches with and I fought in some dozen states," said Richardson.

Started Winning At 13

Vanderlinde won his first bout in a Golden Gloves show at Sioux City when only 13 years of age. A big boy even in his early teens, Vanderlinde, then 14, heard about a carnival fighter offering a purse for anyone able to stay in the ring with him for three rounds.

Undaunted by the fact that the carnival was playing 30 miles from his home, Vanderlinde hitchhiked his way there, challenged the carnival fighter and knocked him cold in the second round.

"Yes, I like to fight and when this war is over I hope Marty Schwartz will take me under his wing and let me see just what I can do in the ring," said Vanderlinde modestly. "I have been blessed with a strong body and I intend to keep it so."

And Marty Shwartz said: "You bet I want this Vanderlinde after the war is over. After all, the Marines turned a heavyweight champion, Gene Tunney, out after World war I and maybe we have another in Vanderlinde. He, in my opinion, seems to have what it takes to make a real champion."

Snatches of Sports

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, June 12 — Naturally you'd expect spherical Steve Owen, coach of the football Giants, to be again' the guys who want to drop college football—especially since he figures that even high school games will draw crowds this year when people are so entertainment-hungry—but he slips one suggestion into his argument that comes as a surprise . . . It is that coaches can learn a lot from inexperienced players who haven't learned to play the orthodox way . . . that's why Steve says he always stops to watch sandlot games — he might pick up an idea . . . There was a Giant rookie back a few years ago who had a trick of feinting pass receivers into breaking the wrong way. Steve watched him two weeks before he learned what the boy was doing, then he taught it to all the Giant backs.

Today's Guest Star: Havey J. Boyle, Pittsburgh Post-Gazette: "added to the the worries coming from an uncertain pitching staff and an inability of his ace hitters to combine their efforts, Manager Mel Ott of the Giants must spend part of his reading hour learning about the trades that rival clubs are cooking up for him."

Clarence Young reports that Ohio racing fans will find the Hamilton track "doubly convenient" when the meeting begins July 3, there's a street car service to the "front door" and a poor house overlooking the track.

One for the Dodgers: Baseball fans at Newport, Vt., claim that Pat Maloney probably is the only player who ever scored a run without going to bat . . . It happened some years ago, but they still remember how Pat calmly strolled to first base and sat down on the bag while an argument raged around the umpire . . . When play was resumed nobody remembered that Pat hadn't taken his turn at the plate, so he remained on first until his teammates made a couple of hits and he scored a run.

Hunting Rules Set for 1944

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 12—The state conservation and natural resorces commission announced tentative game regulations yesterday, including longer seasons on rabbits and raccoons. Bag limits and the number in possession of all game are unchanged.

The schedule provides for a Nov. 19-Jan. 11 rabbit season, a week longer than the previous Nov. 20-Jan. 5 season. The raccoon season is set for Nov. 15-Jan. 15, five days longer than last season.

A proposal to declare an open season on deer in Ohio was referred to a committee.

The commission decided to ask the U. S. fish and wild life service to extend by 15 days the season on ducks in central and southern Ohio.

Year-around hunting of red fox was extended to 13 additional counties. The commission ruled that only 25 traps shall be permitted each trapper in Ohio's inland district where there previously was no limit.

Tentative game regulations and seasons:

Season Sept. 15-30 in all other counties.

Red fox—no bag limit, Nov. 20-Feb. 1 in these counties: Hamilton, Brown, Highland, Adams, Scioto, Pike, Ross, Lawrence, Jackson, Vinton, Hocking, Athens, Meigs, Gallia, also that portion of Knox east and south of the C&C highway, excepting all of Hilliar township, and all of Perry except Thorn, Hopewell, Madison, Reading and Clayton township. In the balance of the state red fox may be taken and possessed throughout the year.

No hunting of game shall be permitted before 11 a. m. eastern standard time, on Nov. 19. Rabbits, pheasants, partridges and ruffed grouse may be taken only from 7:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. eastern standard time.

Tribe After Dubious Honor of One-Run Wins

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 12 — The Cleveland Indians, still in a reading plunge toward the bottom of the American league, are an equally consistent campaign to repeat last year's one-run game championship.

Only two notches ahead of the cellar-dwelling St. Louis Browns, today's league park opponents, the Indians have taken 10 one-run decisions and lost nine in 44 games played.

In 154 games of the 1942 campaign, the Tribesmen won 30 by the narrowest possible margin, and lost 18, to lead the American league in that dubious honor.

Manager Lou Boudreau has designated Jack Salveson to fling for the Indians today in the third chapter of a five-game series with the Browns. The bespectacled righthander will be opposed by lanky Denny Galehouse, a former Cleveland pitcher.

COLONELS ARE READY TO QUIT BASEMENT

They Show Good Pitching and Hitting To Beat Kels.

By The Associated Press

The Louisville Colonels, judging from the impressive hitting and pitching they displayed last night in whipping Minneapolis 4 to 1 to snap a five-game losing streak, appear about ready to give up their lease on the American association basement.

Big George Woods handcuffed the Kels with six hits and struck out 11 batters while his mates unleashed a 13-hit attack on Loren Bain, including Art Rebel's inside-the-park home run, two doubles and a single to account for half of Louisville's tallies.

Kansas City got a split in their doubleheader with Toledo last night, running up a three-game winning span by snatching the first game 3-1, only to lose the second, 2-0.

Working on a two run lead from the start, Kenny Burkhart allowed Milwaukee a run in the first inning then shut out the Brewers the rest of the way to give Columbus a 7 to 1 victory and a 2-1 edge in the series. Wes Livengood, Milwaukee ace, was belted for three runs and six hits in the first two innings, with Henry Oana relieving him in the third.

At St. Paul, Jo Jo Moore of Indianapolis was all set for a fine evening when the game was called in the fifth inning with the score locked 2-2. Moore had collected three singles in three appearances.

BACK TO BREWERS

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 12 — Heinz Becker, the strapping first baseman who was the second leading batter in the American association last season with a .341 mark, has been returned by the Chicago Cubs to the Milwaukee Brewers on a 24-hour recall. The best he could do with the Cubs in 22 games was .145.

London Sees U. S. Football

British Are Not Sure They Like Game as Well as Rugby.

By LOWELL BENNETT
INS Staff Correspondent.

LONDON—Britain has seen its first all-American game of gridiron football. And, frankly, people here are not so sure they like it.

The game, between two U. S. Army teams competing for the European Theater championship, was held at White City stadium, some distance from London. Teams were "Crimson Tide," composed of field artillerymen, and "Fighting Irish" drawn from the Army Engineers.

Crimson Tide swamped the Irish 19 to 6 before a crowd of some 25,000; majority of which were eager Britishers seeing their first game of football outside the local movie-houses.

Here's London Write-Up

But here's what happened in the next day's newspapers:

The London Sunday Express headlined its description of the game with "We Must Learn More About U. S. Football" and commented: "From an English spectator's point of view the game was a little confusing, for although the actual play lasted for an hour, two hours were taken up."

"The rest of the time was taken up by 'time out' for resting or injuries, and the countless 'huddles' in which the 'Irish' engaged while tactics for the next move were arranged."

The Sunday Express urged that instructional films be sent from America to acquaint Britons with the game so that next time they will know what they are watching.

London's Sunday Chronicle put their "Rugby Correspondent" on the job to cover the game. Here's what he wrote:

"As a keen follower of the English rugby game I went along to see how this 'Hollywood film' version compared with ours. I found the match bewildering by complex."

That newspaper then featured "An American Expert's Discription of the Game," which included such phrases as "the Crimsons then pounded it across in a series of short jabs, winding up the scoring rush from the four on the fourth down." Which sure made sense to a very few Britishers.

The London Sunday Dispatch included this comment in their story:

Tally Ho! To the Goal!

"There was the long forward pass, the 'blocking' or obstruction of players and the constant influx of substitutes which would never be allowed in rugby.

"Rugby men found the frequent stoppages somewhat irksome, and the host of officials added to the difficulties of the tyro onlooker.

"Altogether the game lacked the life and incident of our game, the system of playing by signals, making for more stereotyped methods."

The sedate London Observer said the game does not flow with the "same continuity of rugby . . . but no doubt it grows upon one."

No, Britons are not yet quite sure they like our national sport, but they are going to see many more games before the war is over and perhaps it will grow on them.

Current opinion here is that American soldier-ball players may be showing the Germans—in Germany—the game before the coming season gets into full swing back home. And, the way the set-up will be in Germany about that time, the Nazis will just have to like our game.

Refinery Explosion Burns Five Workers

By The Associated Press

CATLETTSBURG, Ky., June 12—Three of five men burned by a "flash" explosion at the Leach station plant of the Ashland Oil and Refining Co. died today in an Ashland hospital.

They were Crosley M. Rogers, 42, maintenance superintendent; B. W. Morgan, 44, superintendent, and Tom Brown, 38.

Company officials reported the men were standing at the base of a cracking tank when a fire shot out and set their clothes aflame.

Others injured by the blast were Harry Blackstone, 40, whose condition is reported to be good, and J. B. Kirk, who was discharged after treatment at the hospital.

President Paul G. Blazer of the company, which is one of the largest oil firms in this district, suffered burns on his hands while helping beat out the fire on the victims' clothing.

GRAIN MEN FORECAST SUBSIDY TO MILLS

Increase in Bread Price May Be Alternative.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 12—Grain men speculated today that it might be necessary to subsidize millers or permit an increase of a cent a loaf in the price of bread as the result of a government loan on the 1943 wheat crop eight cents a bushel higher than the rate in effect for the 1942 crop.

The government loan rate, averaging $1.22 a bushel on the farm, was announced last Thursday. In some cases, it was said, the loan was higher than the indirect ceiling which has existed on wheat since maximums were placed over flour late last year.

While there is no actual ceiling on wheat, a "reflected" ceiling is present because millers must sell flour under maximums. Thus, if they are to make a profit on their grinding operations, they cannot afford to buy wheat above a specified price.

Flour maximums were set on the basis of a wheat price of 89 per cent of parity, while the loan rate is only 85 per cent of parity. (Parity is a formula designed to give producers of farm products the same purchasing power they enjoyed in a favorable past period, usually 1909-14).

The rub in this situation is that parity has risen steadily since last year, when the flour ceiling was set, with the result that 85 per cent of parity today is as high, or higher, than an 89 per cent of parity price several months ago.

The loan price serves as a floor—producers will not sell wheat at a price under the loan, considering storage charges. Thus millers in some territories are believed to be caught in a squeeze between present wheat prices, supported by the loan rate, and flour ceilings.

Traders asserted the extent of this squeeze would be known over the next several weks, and if millers are unable to operate profitably, they probably will protest to Washington. Then the question of subsidizing or advancing the bread price is likely to come to the front, grain men said.

Oats and rye spurted to new seasonal peaks this week, while wheat lagged. The bread cereal closed ¼-¾ higher Friday than last Saturday, July $1.45½-¾, corn was unchanged, July $1.05, oats advanced 2¼-4 cents and rye was up 2½-2¾ cents.

P.-T.A. Congress Plans Better Health for Pupils

By International News Service

CHICAGO — To increase the health standards of high school boys and girls soon to enter war service or industry, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers has launched an intensive health program among its 28,000 local organizations.

"The findings of the selective service examinations have emphasized special health problems. It is important that we build up a stronger program of physical education based upon examination and treatment in earlier years," said Dr. Lillian R. Smith, Lansing, Mich., in announcing the program.

The P.-T. A. plan calls for periodic examination and treatment for tuberculosis, dental care, eye defects, immunization, nutrition, and mental stability. Responsibility rests with high schools and health departments where periodic examination cannot be done by a family physician.

YELLOW SPRINGS, O., AGAIN A PIONEER

Town Plans Forum To Map Future Course.

By The Associated Press

YELLOW SPRINGS, O., June 12—This little college town, home of cooperative education, will pioneer again by charting its post-war future in a series of town meetings.

The first of the community get-togethers for drafting a post-war blueprint which may serve as a model for other towns will be held tomorrow.

These meetings must produce definite plans to back up general conclusions on what will be the place of this village and others like it in the peaceful world of tomorrow, said Mayor Lowell Fess, son of the late U. S. Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio.

"We want to lay definite plans for these boys of ours when they come home," he asserted. "We want to have more than a parade to welcome them."

Twenty-six elected representatives of village organizations, as community spokesman, will thresh out ideas developed here and elsewhere, weigh such concrete plans as may already have been projected, and then coordinate all into a "charter" or "pledge for the future."

Villagers will participate in question-and-answer forums at each session and nationally known speakers will be heard.

Questions on the agenda fall into three general categories:

The overall design of Yellow Springs of the future—whether it wishes to remain a suburb of larger cities such as Dayton, become an industrial town or a well-integrated small community with its own cultural as well as industrial and economic life; public works and improvements including a health center, and social service.

MRS. DEMPSEY CALM AFTER TESTIMONY

Wife of Ex-Heavy Champ on Stand Five Hours.

By The Associated Press

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 12—Maintaining composure during five hours on the witness stand, Mrs. Hannah Williams Dempsey denied flatly yesterday that she had been guilty of misconduct with the two men named by former heavyweight champion, Jack Dempsey as co-respondents in his divorce suit.

Before the case was adjourned until Monday, the former musical comedy singer testified that Dempsey often had falsely accused her of breaking her marriage vows. She added that on several occasions Dempsey told her, "Some day I'm going to kill you."

Mrs. Dempsey testified that her friendships with Lew Jenkins, former lightweight boxing champion, and Benny Woodall, former fighter and trainer, were entirely platonic and that she never paid the bills when she went out with Woodall.

Mrs. Dempsey has filed a counter suit but her allegations have not been made public. In New York state adultery is the only ground for divorce.

Her denial of misconduct came during questioning in state supreme court by Attorney Gerald Donovan.

Q. "Did you commit adultery with Benny Woodall?"

A. "No sir."

Q. "With Lew Jenkins?"

A. "Of course not."

Mrs Dempsey, the former Hannah Williams of musical comedy, related her version of the raid on her Los Angeles apartment on Nov. 22, 1942, by Dempsey and three private detectives. The detectives and others had given testimony on the raid claiming Woodall, named a co-respondent, was there partially dressed and ran out of Mrs. Dempsey's bedroom when they entered.

Hannah said that on that evening she, Mrs. Dorothy Gomez, her sister, Woodall and his sister, Mrs. Jackie Griffin, were in the apartment. Mrs. Gomez, she added, cooked a spaghetti dinner and afterward they sat around. She became ill from the spaghetti, Hannah said.

Mrs. Gomez left early, Mrs. Dempsey related, and added that she, Mrs. Griffin and Woodall were just "sitting visiting."

Q. "What did you do then?"

A. "I went to bed and the next thing I knew I was being shaken by Mr. Dempsey—the lights were on and Mr. Dempsey was shaking me and saying 'get up you * * bum.'"

Mrs. Dempsey said she noticed there were strangers in the apartment and identified them as the three private detectives.

"I said 'what's the matter here,' and Mr. Dempsey said, 'You'll find out, you'll find out.' Jack said 'Get Up, get up,' so I got up and stood in the corner by a chair."

Q. "Did you have your entire suit of pajamas on?"

A. "Yes sir. The next thing I saw was the heavy man Peteraon (Ben Peterson, one of the detectives) and Benny. He pushed Mr. Woodall into the room and sat him on the edge of the other twin bed. Benny was certainly bleeding terribly."

Q. "How was Benny Woodall dressed?"

A. "Shirt and trousers—a sport shirt. Then the detective said 'So you sent your sister out early so you could be together,' and I said 'How dare you!' the detective called to Jack, who had gone into the other room and said 'Jack she objects to what we are saying about her.' A detective brought some shoes in from the living room. One man said 'Is that a nice thing to do?—steal a man's wife while he is defending his country?' Mr. Dempsey pounded his chest and said 'If I didn't have this uniform on I'd kill you.'"

The morning session was interrupted when counsel for Mrs. Dempsey asked the hearing referee to clear the court room or hear in chambers a part of her testimony. The referee called a recess and summoned attorneys for both Hannah and Jack for a conference in chambers.

A short time later Mrs. Dempsey also was called into the conference and shortly after she resumed the stand and nothing was said as to whether or not spectators were to be excluded.

CROSLEY TO OPERATE POWERFUL STATION

Transmitters To Carry U. S. Program To World.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, June 12—A battery of radio transmitters with a total power of 750,000 watts—enough to drown out any axis station—will be used to pipe American propaganda throughout the world, the Crosley Radio Corp. reported.

Broadcasts from short wave station WLWO after the new transmitters are installed within the next few months will be powerful enough "to knock a radio set off the shelf in Italy, Germany or Japan," commented one Crosley official.

Crosley spokesmen said that use of the new transmitters would mark a change in the American propaganda practice, with emphasis being placed on a few powerful short wave stations instead of a number of weaker ones.

WLWO now broadcasts material from the overseas division of the office of war information in New York, presented news at 15-minute intervals in all major languages.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

"OF COURSE we do not know for certain," my father said, "but we think the woman who is to receive the money from Olina is Ruth Hayes."

"Ruth Hayes!" Philip said, perceptibly flinching. "That 'wilderness woman,' who already has played so dastardly a part in this mess?"

I filed away a mental comment for future consideration. Philip Veritzen must know every detail of my father's plans. This was a far cry, I told myself, from the old days when his distrust of the great impresario was but thinly concealed.

"The same," my father said, and the two men looked at each other significantly.

"She is a desperate woman," Philip said at last.

"Yes, she is," my father acquiesced, "but—she also is cautious and canny. She knows how far she can go."

"Then," Philip said, as if an unspoken question had been answered, "the danger to Olina on this—expedition—"

"Is really negligible," my father finished for him. "Of course, you understand I cannot guarantee there will be no danger—one always has to reckon with the unexpected—but I do not anticipate any peril for Olina. And my own daughter will be very near her."

Madge to Be Disguised

"Yes, Olina said that," Philip Veritzen answered "But—I do not understand. Does not this Hayes woman know Madge?"

"Yes, but as I told my daughter just now, Ruth will not know her in the disguise I am planning for her. To all appearances she will be a drab, grey-haired woman somewhat bent, a chambermaid."

Something that I recognized flamed in Philip Veritzen's eyes. But his reply at first did not voice his thought.

"Impossible!" he said gallantly. "I cannot imagine her looking like that."

Then his eyes narrowed.

"So, at last a dramatic role is thrust upon you," he said, "even if it be but a humble character part."

My memory told me what he meant. When, years ago, he had listened to me reading aloud my play for him, he had looked at me for several scrutinizing, appraising seconds, and then begun to question me concerning the theatrical training which his keen perceptions told him I must have had.

Nostalgic Memories

The questions had brought back nostalgic memories of my young girlhood, memories which might have been tragic, but which my devotion to my mother, and my later happiness with my husband and children, had sent into the dim limbo of almost forgotten things.

I had remembered, and, under his gentle, tactful, but persistent prodding, had told him of the great actress—his ejaculation told me that he had known her well and revered her artistry—who had been my mother's friend, and who, when she lived near us, had amused and interested herself in what she called, "making a real actress out of the little girl."

Of course I had been wildly enthusiastic over the idea, but my shyness and the self-repression which my mother had taught me, had made me keep my ambition to myself. I had been thankful for this later when I was dragged into an almost bitter controversy between my mother and her old friend, the elderly actress insisting that I had rare talent, and that she wanted to engineer my entrance into the theatrical world, my mother equally determined that I should have none of what she called "too dangerous and upsetting a career for a girl of Margaret's temperament."

My love for my mother then had been the strongest emotion in me. I wept in secret, but she never knew it, and I joined her in refusing the offer of the old actress.

I do not think my love of acting as a career was as strong as I had thought it was. During my teaching days, when I became somewhat of an authority on certain phases of history, I began to study the history of the drama, and gradually became fired with the ambition to enter the theater by another door, that of playwriting.

My marriage and my children caused even that to dim for awhile. Then came a revival of the interest, my association with Philip Veritzen's organization, and his acceptance of my play, the highest accolade in the theatrical world.

Light Rejoinder

He had surprised and startled me at the end of his questioning by his proposal to give me a certain period of rigid training, and then to establish me as a Veritzen star. To his chagrin, I had refused his offer and the quip he just had made told me that he never had forgotten his plan.

"Yes, isn't it humiliating?" I said, with a little laugh. "But it's probably punishment for my past sins."

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Food Habits

"I SEE WHERE it says by the paper," said my old friend, Dr. Adrian Gibbs, when we met in the hall last night on the way home, "that you have explained how the ration boards are going to ease the plight of the chronic dyspeptics and the diabetics and other underprivileged members of the community under rationing. Why don't you do something for somebody like me?"

"What is the matter with you?" I asked. "You seem to be standing up pretty well."

"That is the way I look to the unseeing eye. I look all right on the surface, but you don't know how I suffer within. I belong to the submerged tenth.

"I am the guy who is too old to change his food habits. I am the kind that was brought up on meat and bread and potatoes. I started in on meat and potatoes when I was two or three years old and except for bread and butter and apple pie, I didn't know there was any other kind of food until I put on long pants and began to eat out.

"I didn't eat cucumbers because they disagreed with my mother. I didn't drink any coffee because it disagreed with my father. I didn't eat tomatoes or oranges because my grandfather thought they were poison. After the age of five I didn't drink any milk, mostly because I didn't like it and mostly because Mr. Doerschuk, the druggist, said that it would curdle on your stomach. I tried milk a few months ago and it was just the way I remembered it when I was young. It tasted like old white string that had been soaked in salt water. But I think it is fine for others, you understand. I recommend it highly.

"In other words, I am one of the fixed-dietary-habit people and it is not very easy to get used to rationing. I think I ought to have a little relief from the rationing boards. What I want is meat and potatoes.

"It is all very well to talk about these new-fangled things like zucchini and parsnips and fennel and endive and green vegetables like that. The lady I board with showed me an article in some fashion magazine that said it would be a good thing to go out and pick wild mustard leaves.

"Now look here, my boy, I am entirely too old to begin to eat all these Italian and foreign-looking foods. I will do nearly anything for my country but change my habits. I am willing to take a chance on scurvy if they give me meat and potatoes."

"Well," I said, "you don't have to worry about potatoes; they are not rationed yet. And what about eggs?"

"A little egg goes a long way," replied Dr. Adrian Gibbs. "In case I didn't mention it to you, what I want is not only potatoes, I want meat and potatoes and I will gladly trade in my canned stuff for some meat and potatoes."

WAR BONDS

5 Ocean Navy

When Pearl Harbor burst upon us our great expanse of territory was protected by a one ocean navy of about 350 first line ships with an addition of an approximate number building.

Now we are in a five ocean war and we are required not only to pay for the building of enough ships of the line but also for hundreds of Liberty ships and auxiliary craft. The amount of money you invested in War Bonds when we had a one ocean navy was all right then, it isn't enough now. Buy more and more War Bonds.
